ALFONSO WILL GET REPLY OF PEOPLE TODAY

TENSION EXISTS AS SPAIN PREPARES FOR ELECTION

Madrid, June 27 (AP)—Spain's political stump speakers wound up the pre-election campaign tonight in an atmosphere of tension not unlike that which preceded the overthrow of the Bourbon dynasty two months ago.

Tomorrow the voters will elect a national assembly whose first duty will be to draft a constitution and establish a permanent form of government to replace the present provisional president and his cabinet.

The electricity in the air struck sparks today at the Tablada airdrome when a column of troops marched in to put down what had been reported as a revolt by officers of the army air force in sympathy with Major Ramon Franco, the picturesque trans-Atlantic flier whom the government has deposed as head of the air corps because of his political activities in opposition to the present regime.

There was excitement for a while, but the troops quickly had the situation under control and their commander informed President Alcala Zamora that there never had been any real danger of rebellion.

Alfonso Interested

At the same time Major Franco, who is in a Seville hospital with a broken leg suffered when a platform collapsed under him during a political speech, interrupted his Siesta to announce he was not at the head of any rebellious movement nor did he and his sympathizers contemplate open revolt.

Nevertheless he reiterated his creed that "Spain is worse off under the present government than in the worst day of the monarchy."

Not the least interested figure in the current developments is the former king himself. Alfonso XIII, now living in exile as the Duke of Toledo, was last reported in England. His family is at Fontainebleau.

When he left his capital last April he told his people that he would stay away until Spain could decide at a general election whether they would establish a Republic or restore the monarchy. Tomorrow he will have his answer.

Michigan Has No Jobs for Workers Of Other States

Lansing, June 27 (AP)—Samuel G. Beatty, state commissioner of labor, today sent letters to labor commissions and employment agencies throughout the United States warning them that Michigan has no jobs for unemployed of other states.

Beatty warned that welfare aid will not be available to persons coming to the state as a legal residence is a prerequisite for such assistance.

HITCH-HIKERS STAGE HOLDUP

A highway holdup, in which hitch-hikers took $4 from a motorist who gave them a lift, was reported to officers at Escanaba yesterday by Toivo Peterson, 25, of Kiva.

Peterson said that he was driving about four miles out of Marquette when two men hailed him on the road, one wearing knickers and the other khaki pants, shirt and blue coat. Peterson gave them a ride, but after they got in his car they held him up, taking all the money he had in his pockets. They then forced him to drive on to Pioneer Trail park, near Escanaba, where they tied Peterson's hands with his necktie and left him in the car while they made their get-away. Peterson freed his hands as soon as he could, and came to Escanaba to report the matter to the police and sheriff's department.

Officers were out on the case Friday night and Saturday, but were able to pin down no definite clues.

Bankers Must Help Southern Nations

Washington, June 27. (AP)—The problem of helping the hard-pressed Latin American countries out of the financial morass today was placed squarely up to the private bankers.

A White House statement late today definitely set at rest recent reports that the United States government was planning to move to the assistance of Latin America following President Hoover's proposal for a year's moratorium on European war debts and reparations.

"Our bankers have given aid during the depression to various South American countries and so far as the administration is aware those countries are making every effort fully to maintain their credit and confidence," the statement said.

PARLEY MIGHT HELP TO IRON OUT DEADLOCK

GERMANY DISMAYED BY FRENCH REPLY TO HOOVER PLAN

BY ARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT

Paris, June 27 (AP)—Andrew W. Mellon, American secretary of the treasury, and Premier Laval spent two and one half hours conferring this afternoon in an effort to iron out the issues raised by President Hoover's war debt moratorium proposal and the French government's reply.

The first tangible result of the Mellon-Laval conference was an invitation, issued as soon as the meeting was over, to Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius of Germany to come to Paris. The invitation came from the French premier.

Today's conference took place at the ministry of the interior, M. Laval's residence. At the conference table in addition to Mr. Mellon and the French premier were United States Ambassador Walter E. Edge, Foreign Minister Briand, Finance Minister Flandin, Budget Minister Pietri, Andre Francois-Poncet, undersecretary for finance and economy and J. Theodore Marriner, counselor to the American embassy.

The French reply to Mr. Hoover's suggestion was made the basis of the discussion. Otherwise, it was made clear, Mr. Mellon would not have consented to the meeting which was the opening of negotiations to get the maximum value out of the Hoover proposal and the French partial acceptance.

LOOK TO PARIS

Berlin, June 27 (AP)—On the eve of the eighteenth anniversary of Sarajevo and twelve years after the treaty of Versailles, statesmen, business leaders and millions of German citizens look tensely toward Paris for the answer to their question: "Can Hoover convince them?"

It is the firm conviction of all except the left and right radical fringes that President Hoover himself realizes Germany's plight really is serious enough to justify the course he has taken in proposing an unequivocal twelve-months armistice on reparations. However, the French reply to his proposal has shaken the hope that Paris might see the situation in the same light.

Today the government refrainer from official comment on the French answer and appealed to the press to withhold comment until Andrew W. Mellon's conferences with the French leaders have progressed further.

Fliers Take Off Again After 14 Hour Delay

Blagoveshchensk, Siberia, June 28. (Sunday) (AP)—After an enforced delay of fourteen and one-half hours here, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, the American 'round-the-world fliers, roared away from the local landing field at 10:30 a. m. today (9:30 p. m. Saturday EST).

Their next scheduled stop was Khabarovsk, 350 miles distant, which they expected to reach within two hours and a half.

At Khabarovsk, they said, they would refuel and take off immediately for Nome, Alaska, probably the most hazardous of their record-breaking flight. From Khabarovsk to Nome is an air-line distance of more than 2000 miles, fraught with danger of high mountains and seas, and the possibilities of storms and enshrouding fog.

The American fliers landed here at 8 p. m. yesterday (7 a. m. Saturday EST). The landing field was in bad shape and their plane the "Winnie Mae" settled down into the Siberian mud. Throughout the night the swift monoplane rested in the muck, despite the efforts of most of Blagoveshchensk's small population, patient plow horses and peasants. It finally was removed this morning, however, and the fliers, after inspecting it for possible damage, continued on their way.

The fliers today had placed more than three-fifths of their 15,000-mile girdle of the globe behind them. They completed the hop here from Irkutsk, 850 miles, in 5 hours, 50 minutes.

DOOMED KILLER THANKS JUDGE

Confessed Murderer Is Glad He Is to Be Electrocuted

Charleston, Ill., June 27 (AP)—A murderer today thanked Judge George W. Bristow for sentencing him to death.

He was Merle Johnson, former Arkansas mountaineer and farm hand, who confessed he slew Mrs. Carrie Bowers and her two small children, because, he said, "she asked me to."

When sentence was pronounced, Johnson reached across the bar, grasped Judge Bristow's hand, and said:

"I got what I wanted."

Then he turned and faced the courtroom and declared:

"I'm glad that I will die."

Johnson's counsel, appointed by the court, made no plea for clemency and presented no evidence, because, he said, it would have been against the defendant's wishes.

Johnson strode into Mattoon early in the morning of last May 20, accosted a policeman and immediately told of the triple slaying. The bodies of Mrs. Bowers, widow of Johnson's former employer in Stuttgart, Ark., and her two children, Joe, 5, and Delmar, 19 months, were found, shot and skulls crushed, in an automobile on a side road.

Three physicians and two alienists who examined Johnson did not testify. They were agreed he was sane, they said, however, Johnson had repeatedly stated he and Mrs. Bowers loved each other and that she wanted death because "life no longer was sweet to her."

Johnson will be taken to the Southern Illinois penitentiary at Menard to await electrocution on October 30.

Swept up the block and across the street by the wind, the blaze, encouraged by occasional bursts of fire works in other stores, razed four blocks of business buildings, causing damage estimated at $2,000,000 by Leo C. Dailey, secretary of the Commercial Club.

The store in which the fire started was located below the telephone office. Several operators were endangered but firemen hoisted ladders and carried three to safety while others raced through the flames on the stairway to the open air.

Many Notables Given College Degrees As Open Season Closes

BY ROBERT ST. JOHN.

New York, June 27. (AP)—The open season on college degrees has ended, with many notables heading the list of those who now can add a few more letters after their names.

The president of the United States, if he is every so inclined, may scrawl the abbreviations of 28 degrees after his "Herbert Hoover." He received one new one this year, from the University of Porto Rico.

Butler Has 40.

But if the president ever tries to write them all out and grows tired, he can take consolation from the knowledge of what a job it would be for President Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia university.

Dr. Butler (for he is doctor of all sorts of things) has more than 40 of the honorary titles.

This year alone he was awarded two new ones—a PH. D. and another granted in Budapest.

JURY ACQUITS W. E. GUESS IN RUBIO SLAYING

VERDICT RETURNED AFTER 22 HOURS DELIBERATIONS

BY FRED VANDERSCHMIDT

Court House, Ardmore, Okla., June 27 (AP)—William E. (Bill) Guess, giant erstwhile Oklahoma deputy sheriff, was acquitted late today by a jury of slaying Emilio Cortes Rubio, 20-year-old kinsman of President Ortiz Rubio of Mexico.

Out almost 22 hours, twelve fagged middle-aged Carter county men who had been deadlocked, 11 to 1, returned the verdict 20 days after Emilio and his student chum, Manuel Garcia Gomez, 22, fell dead before the deputy's gunfire on a residential street here late the night of June 7.

Pale and trembling with emotion, Guess thanked the jurors and declared he still felt justified "in what I did." He remains under $25,000 bond for the slaying of Gomez and his fellow deputy, Cecil Crosby, still stands charged with the murders. Guess took sole responsibility for the actual slayings.

Guess Thanks Jury

Guess walked to the jury box when Judge John B. Obgden had dismissed court and thanked each man. One, E. T. Foster, foreman, had worked much of the day in the face of news his father was critically ill in Springfield, Mo.

Judge Ogden expects to pass on remaining matters Monday. Guy Sigler of the defense counsel, said trials would be demanded in both cases. No trial is expected immediately, however, the court's funds having been depleted. Crosby has insisted on being tried.

Mexico City, June 27 (AP)—News of the acquittal at Ardmore, Okla., today of former Deputy Sheriff William E. Guess, who shot and killed Emilio Cortes Rubio, nephew of the Mexican president, and Manuel Garcia Gomez on June 8, was received here tonight with indignation.

There was considerable comment in which the verdict was described as a "demonstration of American injustice."

LIVECCHI AND PIZZINO GUILTY

Jury Returns Verdict in Detroit After 72-Hour Debate

Detroit, June 27 (AP)—Freed two months ago of charges of slaying Gerald E. Bckley, Detroit radio announcer, Ted Pizzino and Angelo Livecchi today were under sentence of life in the state branch prison at Marquette on charges of the shooting of William Cannon, Chicago narcotic runner.

A jury that deliberated more than 73 hours found them guilty of second degree murder today, and the life sentences were pronounced immediately.

Three women jurors in the case collapsed as the verdict was read, and were carried from the courtroom. Defense attorneys said would demand an investigation, charging the women were "browbeaten into agreement" with the rest of the jury. Motion for a new trial was denied, and the attorneys said they would appeal to the state supreme court.

Shot Near Hotel

Cannon and George Collins, both known to police as narcotic runners, were shot to death in front of the La Salle hotel last July 3. It was in the lobby of the same hotel that Bckley, announcer of Radio Station WMBC, was slain 20 days later. Pizzino, Livecchi, and Joe Bommarito were tried and acquitted in the Buckley case.

Evidences introduced by the state in the present case tended to prove that Cannon and Collins were "cutting in" on the profits of a narcotic ring allegedly headed by Leo (Black Leo) Cellura, who is sought on a charge of murder. Pizzino and Livecchi were tried specifically for the slaying of Cannon, the state withholding trial on a second indictment charging the slaying of Collins.

CROPS SUFFER HEAVY LOSS IN CENTRAL AREA

TEXAS COAST FEARS TROPICAL STORM HEADING THERE

(By The Associated Press)

The central valleys of the nation were parched again yesterday and a blistering sun kept steadily at work. Thermometers flirted with the 100 degree mark, serious damage was reported to crops and the number of deaths from the heat for the week exceeded 90.

The Missouri and Mississippi valleys suffered principally but other isolated areas felt blasts almost as hot. Some sections in the Arkansas and lower Ohio valleys had temperatures of 100 or more.

A drizzle which the weather bureau had predicted might bring relief to the northernmost sections started falling at Duluth Saturday afternoon and thermometers dropped to 70.

Other cities were not so fortunate, however, and the weather man gave them no encouragement for week-end comfort.

Death Toll Mounts

The number of persons who died from heat prostration or who drowned while trying to get relief in lakes and rivers grew rapidly. Chicago counted 12 deaths Saturday, despite the fact that a lake breeze kept the temperature below 90 most of the day. Twelve additional deaths were scattered over Illinois. Eight new heat deaths and three additional drownings were reported in Wisconsin and a dozen more in Iowa, Minnesota and Missouri.

South Dakota was a hot spot again with Sioux Falls registering 100 at 2 o'clock, Huron 102 and Pierre and Mitchell 105.

Temperatures of around 100 degrees were general throughout the southwest and in Iowa and southern Illinois.

The Texas coast was keeping its eye on the Gulf of Mexico, where a tropical storm with high winds was swirling eccentrically towards land with northeast winds and gales in prospect for the area around Port Arkansas. Weather observers were unable to chart the probable course of the storm, but said it might turn and spend itself in the gulf.

Rockefeller's Life May Base New Story

Hollywood, Calif., June 27 (AP)—A story based on the life of John D. Rockefeller, Sr., is being written for the movies and—if the financier doesn't object—it will be released under the title "Rockefeller."

Incidents in the story, written by Lucien Hubbard, well-known screen writer, have been taken entirely from the life of the elder Rockefeller. It will tell, among other things, the romance of the founding of his huge oil company, his philanthropies and his dime-giving habit.

The star role in the picture will be played by George Arliss, whose recent film "The Millionaire" is said to have been suggested by the unsuccessful "retirement" of Henry Ford a few years ago.

RADIO COMISH CALLS RECESS

Thousands of Cases Are Cleared From Docket During Session

Washington, Jne 27 (AP)—With its docket cleared of thousands of cases in the busiest session since its organization, the radio commission stod in recess today until next September.

Driving to clean up their desks before leaving the capital for the summer, the five members in the past week disposed of about 300 applications, including what many believe to be the most important to confront the commission—the famous RCA case.

Climaxing the long fight in the courts by the Radio Corporation of America to retain some 1400 licenses held by its four subsidiaries, the commission decided to renew the licenses regardless of the Delaware federal court decision holding the corporation's tube sales contract with other manufacturing companies was illegal.

Section 13 of the radio act provides for revocation of licenses held by a company "finally adjudged guilty" of attempting to monopolize radio communication. The majority of the commission held a monopoly or an attempted monopoly in the sale of radio tubes did not constitute monopoly in communication.

Three Ordered Off

Three broadcasting stations were ordered off the air during the past year—KVEP, Portland, Ore.; KFKB, Milford, Kansas, and KTNT, Muscatine, Iowa.

While not authorized to exercise the power of censorship over programs put on the air, the commission in passing on license renewal applications takes into consideration the nature of entertainment provided in the past by the station in question. It if considers such programs have been improper, and not in the public interest, the commission refuses to renew the license.

This course was followed in the case of the three stations taken from the air. The difficulties of KVEP arose from its broadcasts during a political campaign. KFKB was shut down as the result of the activities of its owner, Dr. John A. Brinkley, in connection with his so-called gland operations. In the case of the Muscatine station, the commission held that Norman Baker, its operator, was using the station to advertise his hospital, which specialized in the treatment of cancer.

Wickersham Group Nears End of Task

Washington, June 27 (AP)—Exactly 25 months to a day after initiating the most extensive study of crime and its antidote ever undertaken, the Wickersham commission today all but reached the end of its task.

Only two working days remained of its official life as assurances came from members that the last of the welter of major reports had been approved and that only details remained of the assignment given them by President Hoover on May 28, 1929.

Nevertheless, these details cannot be completed within the commission's deadline of midnight, June 30. Although its spacious offices high in the Tower building here must be abandoned at that time because after that date there will be no money to pay the rent, plans have been made to establish a temporary headquarters near the White House.

Decrease In Crime In May Reported

Washington, June 27 —A decrease in all types of crime, save murder and aggravated assault, in more than 1,100 cities throughout the country during May was reported today by the department of justice.

The average of homicides recorded by police was increased by more than one a day, while the rise in the number of aggravated assault cases was even more pronounced. The daily average of all crimes reported, however, decreased from 1,568 to 1,504.

Detroit headed the list of reporting cities, with a total of 1,990 crimes reported during the month, followed by Cleveland with 1,678. Chicago reported 32 murders and 16 instances of manslaughter by negligence to remain at the top of reporting cities in this respect.

Huey Long's Enemy Seeks His Position

New Orleans, June 27 (AP)—Lieutenant-Governor Paul N. Cyr, political enemy of Huey P. Long, today announced his candidacy for governor in the 1932 Democratic primary.

Cyr, a dentist, and business man of Jeanerette, was givernor Long's 1928 running mate. He and Long broke openly and bitterly early in the Long administration and have since added color to an already colorful political situation with frequent personal attacks.

When Goveronr Long was elected to the United States senate last fall, he announced he would not take his seat until his gubernatorial term expires several months after the next congress convenes in order to prevent Cyr from succeeding to the executive's chair.

Two other candidates are already actively in the field for governorship.

BOARD STUDIES GRAIN PROBLEM

Hoover Asks More Definite Policy in Selling Wheat

Washington, June 27 (AP)—President Hoover today called upon the farm board to consider a more definite policy for disposing of the wheat surplus bought to maintain domestic markets.

A White House statement said this action was taken "in view of unusual conditions growing out of the depression."

Chairman Stone immediately summaned the board into an extra session to discuss the president's suggestion.

The chairman and Mr. Hoover went over the domestic wheat situation at a conference yesterday morning, but both withheld details.

A flood of demands that the board pledge itself to hold the 200,000,000 or more bushels of wheat off domestic markets for a definite period have come to the president and the board.

The appeals for a promise that the wheat will be held ranged from a fixed period of four months to one year. Some asked that there be no selling until the price had reached one dollar.

Would Advance Price

The president has been told by grain traders and growers that the price of domestic cereal would advance at least ten cents a bushel immediately if a new agreement is announced.

A week ago, in response to Kansas pleas, the board said it would adher to its present policy, adopted March 23, of handling the stabilization supplies "in such a way as to impose the minimum burden on domestic and world markets."

The board has felt it wanted to be free to take advantage of any favorable trade developments to dispose of the stocks, and contended the March 23rd policy did not imply that wheat would be "dumped" to depress prices.

Stone has said wheat will be sold abroad if there is a market and its sale does not affect prices adversely. Those who have asked for a new policy, however, are not concerned so much with foreign selling.

The grain stabilization corporation began buying wheat to steady fast-falling prices in February, 1930, and stayed in the market until June 3 of this year.

Stanford Net Star Beats Bruce Barnes

Haverford, Pa., June 27 (AP)—Moving through the tournament as quietly as a shadow, Keith Gledhill, 20-year-old Stanford university player, today defeated Bruce Barnes, of the University of Texas in the national intercollegiate singles tennis championship final match on the courts of the Merion cricket club. The scores were 3-6, 6-2, 6-1, 6-4.

Work Fast to Save Boy Buried Under Ground by Cave-In

Ottawa, Ill., June 27 (AP)—Howard Smith, 16, a high school student, was being kept alive by air compressors tonight while a mine rescue crew was digging desperately to reach him at the bottom of a 24-foot well where he was buried under rocks and dirt by a cave-in. He told county officials at the top of the well through a speaking tube that he was not injured.

A crowd estimated at 5,000 persons thronged the farm of Frank De Bolt, the boy's grandfather where the well is located.

Because of the fear of further cave-ins, miners and mine rescuers who were summoned from LaSalle, Ill., could not dig directly into the debris covering the boy, but had to sink a 24-foot shaft a considerable distance from the well. From there, they were tunneling towards the well.

Smith and his uncle, Frank Rabe, had been repairing the pump in the well. They had finished the job and Smith was climbing to the top when the cave-in occurred.

National Air Tour Will Start July 4

Detroit, June 27 (AP)—The 1931 national air tour, which leaves Detroit July 4 for a 22-day flight through 18 states, will visit 33 cities enroute, it was announced tonight by Ray Collins, manager of the tour.

The winner of the tour, which will be judged on a basis of piloting ability, ship performance, and speed, will receive the Edsel Ford reliability trophy and the major part of $12,500 cash awards.

Leaving Detroit July 4th, the fliers swing east through New York and Pennsylvania, then turn back through Ohio and touch points in West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee on the way south. Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana of the old south lead to Texas and Oklahoma of the southwest and the tourists return through Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, Iowa, and Illinois to reach Kalamazoo on July 25.

Amtorg Officer Is Arrested In Suit

New York, June 27 (AP)—Archili V. Mikadze, vice president of the Amtorg Trading corporation, was arrested today on a civil warrant in a $250,000 suit by W. A. Rukeyser, an American engineer, against the Soviet Asbestos Trust.

Mr. Rukeyser's suit sets forth that Amtorg and the Russian government entered into a contract with him and kept it only long enough to set possessoion of his patents for use in dumping asbestos on American markets. The action was filed last night in supreme court.

State Briefs

(By The Associated Press)

Detroit—The police Saturday searched for George Boston, proprietor of the Thyne Cleaners and Dyers at 11179 Grand River avenue, who disappeared late Friday. The police found Boston's automobile parked near the cleaning establishment. Boston's wife could give no explanation for her husband's disappearance.

Flint—Henry Humphrey, 36, of Burt, Mich., was instantly killed Saturday when he drove his automobile into the side of a Grand Trunk freight train at Brent Creek, 12 miles northwest of Flint. Humphrey was returning from work in a Flint automobile factory.

Calumet — The first lake-to-ocean shipment of copper was on its way to Stockholm, Sweden, Saturday in the Norwegian steamer, Bill. The cargo, 1,400 tons, was loaded at the docks of the Calumet and Hecla and Isle Royale Mining companies here. The vessel unloaded a cargo of Swedish pulpwood at Menominee recently. It entered the lakes via the St. Lawrence river and connecting canals.

Flint — Charles W. Puehl, Grand Rapids, was elected president of the Michigan Christian Endeavor union at the convention here Saturday. Theodore Dykstra and G. Ira Wilkinson were elected vice-presidents; Miss Sarah McCullagh, secretary, and Herman O. Springer, treasurer, all of Detroit. The next convention city will be selected Sunday.

Hathaway Is Found Guilty of Slaying 20-Year-Old Nurse

Newport, R. I., June 27(AP)—Elliott R. Hathaway, 28, son of a Fall River, Mass., state representative, was convicted today of the murder of pretty Verna Russell, 20-year-old student nurse.

Deliberating an hour and 43 minutes a jury decided that Hathaway strangled the girl while she was resisting his advances and was guilty of murder in the first degree. The verdict carried a mandatory sentence of life imprisonment which will not be pronounced for a week at least, during which time defense counsel may file motions for a new trial.

Attorney General Benjamin McClyman, who personally prosecuted the case, charged that the girl died with Hathaway's right hand on her throat, during the first "date." He drew a word picture of cold blooded cruelty. The evidence showed, he said, that Hathaway left the girl's body, exposed to the night cold, lying in the rubble beside a lonely lane in Tiverton, donned his fur coat and drove back to Fall River.

Hunk Anderson Is Being Treated at Rochester Clinic

Rochester, Minn., June 27 (AP)—Treatment of Heartley "Hunk" Anderson, senior football coach at Notre Dame, for meningitis began tonight with physicians saying he would be in good condition to direct opening of the Ramblers' schedule in September.

Completion of tests today showed Anderson suffering from inflammation of membranes enveloping the brain, and not from any more serious head ailment as physicians believed yesterday.

Drs. C. J. Barborka and J. B. Doyle of the Mayo Clinic, who have had Anderson under observation since Wednesday, when he came here because of severe headaches since last May, said they were "very much encouraged for an early recovery."

Anderson, whose condition showed improvement late today over yesterday, must spend several weeks here, they said. Surgical treatment will not be necessary, in their opinion, and meurological specialists will handle the case.

help Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellor, convince European nations of the world value of adhering to President Hoover's suggestion for a one year moratorium on war debts and reparations.

He was optimistic concerning the ultimate results from the president's suggestion but was leary of making any definite predictions.

Washington, June 27 (AP)—Tedious details tonight stood in the way of a Franco-American reparations moratorium settlement.

President Hoover, postponed his departure for his Rapidan fishing camp from hour to hour and kept in close communication with his emissaries, Secretary Mellon and Ambassador Edge, at Paris.

Confidence of an ultimate agreement expressed by Secretary Stimson before sailing from New York for conferences with European leaders, was reflected throughout the day by his subordinates at the state department.

Acting Secretary Castle interpreted the vote of the French Chamber of Deputies as one of confidence in the government itself. It was not, he said, an expression of parliamentary support for an unalterable stand on the French counter proposal to President Hoover's proposal for a one year suspension of inter-governmental debt payments.

Michigan Second In Enrollments At Marquette U.

Milwaukee—Thirty-two states, the District of Columbia, and nine foreign countries were represented in the 1930-31 student body at Marquette university, according to a recent survey announced by Albert C. Penney, director of the central bureau of information and statistics of the university.

More than three-fourths of the undergraduates at Marquette were from Wisconsin, and registrants from Milwaukee county composed one-half of the student body.

Michigan again stood second among the states sending students to Marquette, while Illinois passed Minnesota during the last year for third place. Then came Iowa and Ohio. These states, with Wisconsin, are included in the north central division along with Indiana, Kanass, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota.

The North Atlantic division, comprising Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island and Pennsylvania was next.

Other states from which students registered during the last year were Kentucky, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Texas, Folrida, Georgia, West Virginia, California, Colorado, Montana, Oregon and Washington, as well as the District of Columbia.

Mr. Penney's survey reported an increase in foreign enrollment. Canada led with 18 students, while the others were China, South Africa, Phillippine Islands, Palestine, India, Greece, Hawaiian Islands and Roumania. The foreign registration constituted 1.18 per cent of the student body.

The report was based on first semester registration at Marquette.

Escanaba Selected for 1932 Meeting of Dental Society

Ion River—Dr. E. C. Tyler, prominent Iron River dentist, has been elected president of the Upper Peninsula Dental society at the convention dinner held in the Iron Inn.

For the last year Dr. Tyler served as vice president. Dr. R. H. Banks, of Escanaba, was elected vice president, and Dr. H. A. Johnson, also of Escanaba, was named secretary-treasurer.

Escanaba was awarded the 1932 convention at the invitation of the chamber of commerce and Mayor W. H. Needham. For a time it appeared that Ironwood would make a fight for the 1932 gathering, but the Ironwood delegation withdrew with the understanding that it would be awarded the convention for 1933.

Many at Dinner

The dinner was attended by 70 persons, including dentists from practically every city and town in the upper peninsula.

Ben L. Quirt, of Iron River, entertained the delegates with a number of humorous stories, some of them in dialect.

The dentists discussed the advisability of establishing an upper peninsula charter, instead of being affiliated with the Michigan Dental association. That question arose when it was reported that possibly after this year the state society will not forward $150 to defray the expenses of the upper peninsula meeting.

Most upper peninsula dentists, because of geographical location, find it inconvenient to attend the state convention in the lower peninsula. Each pays $4 dues a year.

Gives Talk On Ethics

The principal talk at the dinner was given by Dr. G. W. Wilson, director of the dental clinic at Marquette university, Milwaukee. His subject was "Dental Education." He stressed that the dental profession should live up to a high standard of ethics; that young dentists should be invited to join the society, and that practitioners should give service which is a credit to the profession.

Music at the dinner was furnished by Verle Rosenquist's orchestra, composed of Miss Rosenquist, piano; Ray Galipeau, saxophone; Alfred Miller, cornet; Jack Watts, trombone, and John Ruus, drums.

Dr. J. B. Ruggles, of Munising, retiring president, acted as toastmaster.

Attends Funeral of Sister Today

Mrs. William Jermaine, 513 South Eleventh street, has been called to Iron Mountain by the death of her sister, Mrs. Margaret O'Connell, which occurred Thursday in a Chicago hospital where she had gone for treatment.

Mrs. O'Connell was born June 29, 1863, in Burville, N. Y. With her husband she went to Dickinson county when Iron Mountain was little more than a mining camp. They located first at Quinnesec and later at Iron Mountain, where for many years Mr. O'Connell was a prominent lumberman.

The survivors are one daughter and three sons, Miss Gnyeth O'Connell, Chicago; Hugh, of San Francisco, Calif.; Norman, of Grand Forks, N. D., and Ray, of Havre, Mont.; also one sister, Mrs. William Jermaine, of this city.

Funeral services will be held today at 1:30 o'clock at the family home, 402 West Fleshiem street, and at 2 o'clock at St. Joseph's church, with Rev. Fr. Joseph Dufort officiating. Burial will be in Cemetery Park.

Miss Lovia Bryant, Former Teacher at Franklin, Passes

Miss Lovia Bryant, 70, principal at the Franklin school in this city until ten years ago, passed away at Concord, New Hampshire, yesterday, according to word received in Escanaba last evening. Miss Bryant was a teacher at the Franklin building for thirty years. After leaving this city, she taught school for three years at Marshall, Mich., later moving to Lebanon, N. H., and eventually to Concord, where her sister resided. A nephew, Carroll P. Adams, of Detroit, also survives.

Funeral services will be held at Concord on Wednesday, according to information received in this city.

In the many years that she taught school here, Miss Bryant made a host of friends in this city who will be grieved to learn of her passing.

Sister M. Justina Visiting Escanaba

Many former pupils of Sister M. Justina are calling on her during her visit at the Escanaba convent of the Sisters of Notre Dame. Sister Justina was among the group of sisters who came here in 1888 to teach at St. Joseph's school. She was the teacher of the first class of boys to graduate from St. Joseph's high school in 1891.

Since leaving Escanaba, Sister Justina has been teaching in Chicago. She plans to leave here on Monday, going to Milwaukee where she expects to teach during the coming year.

Pavley Kills Self at Chicago Hotel

Andreas Pavley, famous classic dancer, who produced the Pavley-Oukrainsky ballet act which appeared at the Upper Peninsula State Fair in Escanaba last August, plunged to his death from the sixteenth floor of the McCormick hotel in Chicago, Friday, according to news dispatches. He was 45 years old.

The dancers' body, clad in pajamas, fell to the cement paving in an alley, narrowly missing a hotel clerk. The screen on his window had been smashed by a portable radio set.

John Collins, manager of the hotel, asid Pavley had moved into a cheaper room three weeks ago, saying he had suffered financial reverses. Police found no notes in his room.

Internationally known as a dancer, Pavley had led the ballet of the Chicago Opera company for several years and formerly was first dancer of the San Carlo opera. He was a former associate of Mme. Pavlowa.

Of Dutch parentage, Pavley was born in the Dutch East Indies, a member of a family of military men.

STRONG MAN FOOLED

Decatur, Ill.—The Great Peters, circus strong man, was about to go through his act of jumping from a platform with a hangman's noose around his neck. The stunt was to give onlookers an idea of how strong Peters' neck was. The rope out of which the noose was made was elastic, to relieve tho strain on Peter's neck. When he jumped, the rope, having a little too much play, let Peters down very hard, causing him to land on the ground and tear ligaments in his legs.

EDITORIAL

A CITY BEAUTIFUL

MEMBERS of the Escanaba Woman's Club are doing something really constructive in the building of a rockery in Ludington park, where First Avenue South joins with Lake Shore Drive. It will greatly enhance the appearance of Escanaba's beautiful park, providing a sight which both citizens and visitors will view with keen delight.

The rock garden is one of the projects on the "city beautiful" program outlined by the Escanaba Woman's Club. Apparently believing in the old adage, "If you want a thing well done, do it yourself," the club members have organized bees for picking and piling the stones and doing the other work necessary to develop the rockery.

Some organizations pass too many resolutions telling other people what to do, but the Escanaba Woman's Club digs right down and does the job itself. Such practical efforts are a valuable service to the community.

BICYCLE NUISANCE

A CITY ordinance stipulates that bicycles should not be operated on sidewalks, but the fact that there is such a regulation seems to be unknown to the majority of cyclists judging from the number of them that can be seen riding anywhere but on the streets.

In the days when Escanaba had sand or dirt streets, there probably was some excuse for bicycle riders taking to the sidewalks for better wheeling. Now, however, most of the streets are paved, and no excuse can be offered.

In addition to the annoyance to pedestrians, these sidewalk cyclists do considerable damage to flower gardens and lawns when they make short cuts at corners. A long time ago, someone said "there should be a law," and now it should be observed.

HAPPINESS IN PLAY

THE Escanaba Daily Press notes with much satisfaction that an increased interest in the old-fashioned game of horseshoe pitching has resulted in this district since this newspaper announced it would sponsor a tournament for devotees of this pastime. The tournament will get under way on Monday, drawing about a hundred men and boys into competition.

Horseshoe pitching, of course, is only one of the many sports that this community offers to its citizens. The Daily Press is gladly doing its bit in endeavoring to promote these healthful recreational activities, both by sponsoring various events and also giving publicity to all athletic competitions.

Escanaba now has a well-rounded out sports program. There is still room for improvement, but what is especially satisfying is the fact that it is steadily growing. During the summer, three diamond ball leagues are in play under the sponsorship of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, affording enjoyable and invigorating exercise for about three hundred men and, in addition, much pleasure without cost to thousands of spectators.

Several boys' teams at present are being organized to enter the junior diamond ball tournament, which will be part of the recreational program that will be supervised by Joel Olson, recreational director. Tennis, horseshoe pitching, volley ball, swimming and diving are other activities that will be crowded into a busy recreational program by Director Olson.

For those who golf, Escanaba offers two splendid courses, one located within the city limits and the other at Ford River Switch. Golf is a game that is growing by leaps and bounds, indulged in by all classes and types of people. No longer is it solely a rich man's game. Then there is trapshooting at the Northwestern Railway's grounds, rifle shooting at the Escanaba Rifle club's range at Pine Ridge, horse racing at the fair, track in the spring, high school and Ranger football in the fall, basketball and other indoor sports, and skating and hockey in the winter.

Such enjoyable and healthful pastimes, made available to the public at little or no cost, certainly drive the depression blues away. No doubt, it is one of the reasons why people like to live in Escanaba.

JOBS AND CRIMINALS

IF YOU have ever doubted that there is a direct and important connection between crime and economic conditions, you might profitably consider the fact that the Marshall Stillman movement, an organization which sought to rehabilitate criminals by getting them honest jobs, has gone out of business because of the depression.

The depression eliminated the jobs, and the criminals promptly went back to crime. So the Marshall Stillman movement is being replaced by the Association for Better Citizenship, which will try to prevent young men from entering the underworld.

Seldom is the economic background of crime better illuminated than by this event. Before we can eliminate our underworld, apparently, we will have to take the kinks out of our industrial system.

POWER FROM SUN

Berlin—Electricity from the sun isn't an impossibility, and in the future we'll be getting our power from that body, according to Dr. Bruno Lange, of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute of Silicate Research. The young scientist reports that he has discovered a "direct, immediate and simple method of transforming sunlight into electricity.

LOCATE WAR "ACES"

Washington—The War Department has succeded in locating 55 of the "aces" who won their spurs in the air service of the government during the World war. Only 22 of these 55 are still connected with military service, and only seven of this number are engaged in active service with the Air Corps. At the end of the war there were 72 pilots credited with five or more victories in aerial combat.

BOUND TO CLEAR

My friend Tom Wall ain't sad at all,
For here's his letter here:
It't dark today, but anyway,
Tom says "it's bound to clear."
'Twas just a note that Tom Wall wrote
(About a deal we had)
That did not whine, without a line
That said the times were bad.

When skies of blue get gray (they do),
Some men set down and quit.
They might work on till clouds are gone,
But that, of course, takes grit.
It's easier to say, "No, sir,
It ain't no time to buy—
It's rainin' cats and dogs, and that's
No time to sell, or try."

He ain't (Tom Wall) that way at all.
If it's too wet to plow,
He'll build a bin to put things in
A little while from now.
It's rained before, will rain some more,
And then the harvest's here.
The world's all wet, but Tom's all set—
"The skies are bound to clear."

HEART of LIANE

(By NEA Service) By MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

LIANE BARRETT, 18 and beautiful, just out of the convent, goes to dinner with Molly Cronin, a neighbor, and two of Molly's men friends. The men quarrel and one is shot. Liane frantically sends a note to her mother, CASS BARRETT, asking her to come at once. Cass goes and due to her pleading SHANE McDERMID, the young policeman in charge, releases Liane.

Cass is a rather faded actress employed in a stock company. She and Liane go to the theater and later that evening the girl encounters a handsome stranger who calls her by name. A few days later Cass and Liane leave the hot city for Willow Stream, L. I., where Cass has an engagement in a summer stock company, sponsored by the wealthy MRS. CLEESPAUGH. ELSIE MINTER, ingenue, introduces Liane to CLIVE CLEESPAUGH who seems attracted to Elsie. Liane is employed to share box office duties with MURIEL LADD, a society girl. Shane McDermid comes to tell Liane that the man wounded in the gun fight will live. Liane is greatly relieved.

Murial Ladd invites Liane to her home to a dinner party. The girl goes and is excited to see there the mysterious stranger. His name is VAN ROBARD and he proves strangely fascinating.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IV

MEANTIME Cass was engaged in an interview with the great Mrs. Cleespaugh. Cass had been resting after helping Liane with the important business of dressing. She was summoned from her room by a flustered Mrs. Smithers.

"Miz Cleespaugh's downstairs asking for you," whispered the landlady, round-eyed, at the door.

Outside the twilight of late June was deepening. The scent of flowers which had burgeoned in the full heat of the day came up from the little garden—the sweet, bracing odor of the evergreen trees which banked Mrs. Smithers' front veranda. Cass, feeling lanquid and vaguely surprised, smoothed her hair and went down to the "parlor," where on a horsehair soft with crocheted "tidies" spread over its arms waited the imposing, the redoubtable dowager, Mrs. Cleespaugh.

She was gracious this evening, more gracious than Cass had ever known her to be in their brief and casual encounters.

"So nice of you to come downstairs," said Mrs. Cleespaugh in that clipped, assured voice Cass had come to associate with the New York society woman. Such women she had previously found immensely formidable. This was especially true when they were about the age of the woman before her—old enough to dare to be frumpy, rich enough to be rude as a queen, arrogant and indifferent to the feelings of lesser mortals. Cass found it difficult now, as always, to believe that such a woman had actually suffered the common ills, had borne children, known heartbreak and wept and endured. It scarcely seemed credible. Now Mrs. Cleespaugh, in a gracious mood, was more believable as a human being than usual.

"You will be wondering what I came to see you about no doubt," the great lady began, having listened to Cass' murmured protestations of pleasure at the visit. "It's about your daughter."

"About Liane?" Lines of worry deepened between Cass' fine eyes. "Is it—nothing's the matter, I hope!"

"No, no. Quite the contrary, indeed. She's splendid. Such an interesting child. So artistic. I've been watching her all this week. She's marvelous with the patrons at night. She really plays hostess at the theater, shows them to their seats. So enterprising. Really charming."

Mrs. Cleespaugh beamed.

"One can't help being attracted by her poise, her manner. Such a quiet, well-bred child. Quite refreshing."

* * *

CASS sat back, relieved and looking gratified. As yet she did not know what this was all about but now that Liane had been approved she did not particularly care.

"You've had a bit of a hard time raising her, I have no doubt," Mrs. Cleespaugh went on. "Hard lines and all that sort of thing." She put up a protesting hand at Cass' flush. "Don't mind me, my dear," she said. "I'm an old woman. I say what I please and I have eyes in my head. It's no easy matter for a woman alone to bring up a pretty child like that in New York. You've done, may I say, a marvelous job of it. That's Clive's word—'job'. And now to get down to the heart of the matter. I wondered if you would be interested in a plan I have for Liane. I wondered if you would let her come to me next winter. Live with me, I mean. She's sweet and intelligent but utterly unprepared for the world. You weren't" (she paused here) "you weren't thinking of the stage for her?"

Cass sighed sharply, bitterly. "I certainly hope she has no such idea," she said in a flat voice. "I would discourage it."

"You people in the profession!" cried the great lady, lifting her hand and letting it fall. "Strange how you love your work yet always warn youngsters away from it!"

Cass' eyes had a faraway look. "It's a hard life," she said, "and a thankless one. You can eat your heart out and starve unless luck is with you. No, you're quite right. I should warn Liane away from it. I want her to be normal and happy, to have a roof over her head, a home. I don't want her to live in a succession of dreary, furnished places, to struggle year after year for enonugh to feed and clothe herself. Unless a girl has exceptional talent it is the most difficult road of all to chose."

"Yes, yes. Quite so. I thought you'd feel that way." Mrs. Cleespaugh nodded decidedly. "'And now that that's settled, let me make you a proposition. You don't have to decide at once. You can take a week, two weeks, to think it over. I'm a selfish old woman. I have few interests. I've been dabbling in this little theater to keep my mind busy. But it's not enough, not enough. Clive's going to India in the autumn. Heaven knows when he'll be home again. Why not let me have Liane? Think it over before you make a decision. I like the child. I say so frankly. She appeals to me. She reminds me of—well, no matter."

Cass said weakly, "T-his—this comes as a complete surprise, Mrs. Cleespaugh. I suppose you know that. Liane has been my life, all I have. And yet—" She faltered. Who was she to stand in the girl's way? After all, the doctor had warned Cass. Her tricky, unreliable heart might fail her any day and Liane would be left quite alone.

"I said you were not to answer now," said the great lady with firmness as she rose to go. I shall talk to you later about all this. Think it over. Good-night."

Bewildered, Cass sought her room. Was ever mother beset with such a problem? More than anything the other woman's desire to do this strange thing baffled Cass. Out of all the world, why need she have chosen Liane? But what vistas the prospect opened up! What riches for the poor, brave child with her lovely looks and her wistful yearning for "nice things!"

It was mad and unthinkable even to consider it. Cass tossed and turned in the warm, airless little room under the eaves. On the highroad, half a city block away, motor cars went hurtling through the summer-scented night. Somewhere out there where the lights lay along the shore like jewels in a string, Liane was laughing, dancing. This was for her a night stolen out of all the dull nights, one to be richly remembered. Music throbbing out of the darkness, fine fabrics to touch servitors. Was this what life meant? Or did it mean working and saving, scrimping to pay the rent, wondering if there would be enough left to buy a winter coat? Cass hardly knew. She fell asleep, presently, beset by the problem. Liane came in at 12 to find her so.

"Mother, mother!" she called, kneeling. There was a note of panic in the girl's voice. "Mother, mother!" How white and still Cass seemed lying there with her thin hand doubled under her cheek. Fear clutched at the heart of the girl.

But Cass stirred, woke and smiled dimly. "Had a good time, sweet?"

"Oh, marvelous!" Liane breathed. "Muriel said I was silly to rush off like Cinderella but I'd promised you. And" (this somewhat shyly), "Mr. Robard drove me home. The rest had gone to the club and—"

She stopped short at Cass' stricken look.

"What—what did you say, darling?" her mother inquired, in a voice that sounded strained, unreal. "Who drove you?"

"A Mr. Van Robard. Awfully good-looking. Why?"

"Ah-h-h!" Cass had closed her eyes and her cheeks that had been white were suddenly scarlet.

"Why, mother, you frighten me. Honestly you do!" Liane had dropped to her knees and was rubbing the cold hand with both her warm young brown ones. "Don't look that way, please! What is it all about? Do you know him?"

"Liane!" Cass sat up, pushing her tumbled hair back from her haggard face. "Promise me—promise me you won't have anything to do with that man. I can't explain. Believe me I'd like to but I must not. That's all I can say!"

* * *

THE girl, startled by Cass' wild look and passionate manner, was curbed to instant acquiescence. Quietly she said, "'Mother, do calm yourself. Of course I'll do as you say! It doesn't matter in the least, anyway. I'll probably never see him again. Only—well, he didn't seem at all like a villain. I do wish you could tell me why you object to him so, but if you can't, you can't." Her troubled eyes caught the flash of panic in those of her mother. Liane hastened to add, "I'll cut him dead if I pass him on the road, if it will make you happier."

Instantly she regretted the words. Why, if she did that she would be a traitor to her own heart.

Cass' only answer was a sigh.

"Don't worry, please," Liane urged. Coming to her mother's side, she laid her cool cheek against the older woman's faded one. "He's nothing in my life, you know," she said firmly.

But as she said it the thought flashed through Liane's mind that nothing could be farther from the truth. She caught her breath, remembering the stirring of her pulse as that somber face had gazed at her five minutes before in the moonlit stillness. Of the deep voice saying, "Good-night, sweet child."

Liane could not understand her own emotions. She had turned her face toward his as a child might, waiting, hoping for his kiss. With a flush of something like shame she remembered his muttered, reluctant "I can't." Then he had bent and put a kiss into the palm of her hand. No, it would not be easy to forget Van Robard. That Liane knew!

'Looking Backward'

JUNE 28, 1911.

John Dillon one of the veteran traveling salesmenn of this district and whose age no one knows but himself is winning renown as a moulder of fashions in men's clothes and especially headwear. He is the representative of a Chicago chain concern and always designs his own headgear and his styles are generally copied along his route.

The Alpha Dramatic club baseball team clearly demonstrated Sunday, when they trimmed the fast Rapid River bunch 8 to 6, that they are one of the strongest amateur aggregations in the city. Louis Nolden working in the box for the locals, showed regular league style and struck out 12 of the upper way players and allowed only three hits. Tom Shanahan, behind the bat, held Nolden's slants nicely. Rapid River batteries were, McPherson and Buchman. McPherson succeeded in striking out only one of the Alphas and allowed eleven nice bingles to be taken off his delivery.

The Misses Naomi Carrol, Pearl Kress and Nina Germaine, left yesterday for Marquette to attend the summed school.

$5,000 will be spent here for the big celebration July 3 and 4. There will be aerial flights from the fair grounds, big street parade including floats, societies, boy scouts, carriages, motor cars, city council, fire department, five big bands, Ishpeming, Manistique, Escanaba, Chicago and Bark River. $250 will be allowed for parade prizes, two sensational out door attractions. Baseball both days, Escanaba vs. Merton & Wrights, Milwaukee's crack team which won 10 straight games. Naval reserves, big dance at Peterson Opera House in the evening with full band orchestra, five free shows Monday afternoon. Special rates on all boats and trains, band concerts both evenings, street illumination, $1,000 display of fireworks, and we have made preparations for 10,000 visitors. Don't fail to see Mayor John S. Lindsay go up in fire and smoke during the fireworks display. Arrangements are in the hands of the Escanaba Business Men's association and they mean business.

Martin Ludington Dunn the first white child born in Escanaba will be the city's guest of honor at the home coming celebration July 3 and 4.

RUSSIAN TAX LAWS

On June 29, 1917, the provisional Russian government issued a law increasing the existing progressive income tax to 30 per cent on incomes over $200,000.

Another new law increased the war tax on increment of industrial profits to 60 per cent. A third law established a supplementary progressive income tax, rising on the largest incomes to more than 30 per cent and making, together with the highest ordinary income tax, 60 per cent of the income.

The new Russian loan received subscriptions amounting of $1,500,000,000, bringing the total debt to $20,500,000,000.

On July 12 a dispatch from Petrograd stated that the deposed Emperor Nicholas had appealed to the provisional government to allow him and the members of his family to acquire stock in the "Loan of Freedom." He announced that the amount of their investment in the loan depended upon whether the Russian state intended to support his family.

A valuable deposit of radium has been discovered in Portugal.

Peninsula Paragraphs

By Marjorie Huntoon Morrill

WINDY NIGHT

I've walked swiftly over the hills
And left no trace of me behind,
My will submerged in the wind's will—
For sweet is the wind and kind.
Yes, I've walked where a tall beech
Genuflected to honor the moon
And listened to the loud speach
Of lake wave and loon.

No one follows where I walk
But people back in the little town
Are spending the hours in small talk
And shallow smile and frown;
While I, caught up in the wind's will
Question the stars, challenge the moon,
And beat out patterns on the hill
Above the lake and the loon.

Sweet is the night of windy weather
When clouds scud and owls fly
And waves and forest sings together.
Say, did you know it was I
Who sent that song of shrill keening
Sliding down the darkened hours?
You'll find, my dear, its real meaning
In the trampled flowers.

Blown are the blooms of the tangled garden.—
Scent of pansy and mignonette!
Never you'll know I'm asking pardon
And I can never forget.
Perhaps some day I shall learn reason
And share with you a homely flame;
If wind and hill should practice treason
Surely I'm not to blame!

* * *

Queer, the way we divide things up. The Old Book may have started it; A time to dance and a time to mourn . . . But why we should always spend all the nights in bed and all of the days in waking is not at all plain.

* * *

"What are you doing out this time of night?" How they say it! One has to be always thinking up alibis. It is as though all of the hours after twelve by the clock were sinful. Of course it is all right if you are spending those hours in a large crowd dancing more than you want to and eating more than you should. But to walk over the hills and through the woods in the dark . . . Well!

* * *

Of course, can't every body learn the thrills of nightwalking in the wind. Usually such experiences have come to us when business or duty sent us abroad after the rest of the world was sleeping. But having once found such adventure we are tempted to seek it again . . . and again, until, like golf we become helpless and unashamed of it.

* * *

Summer or winter, spring or fall, all seasons are beautiful and abounding in wisdom. We must pay for such, of course. The world and her people will become feckless in the new understanding which will come to us. We, ourselves, may be diminished to our proper sizes and take our places on a smaller scale of things. And the Universe, the grand, glowing wonder of it all, will give us such wide fields for thought and such adventure of soul that, on sudden bright moments, we look infinity in the face.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE MICHIGAN

"The Finger Points," the First National production starring Richard Barthelmess now at the Michigan Theatre, is the fourth Barthelmess features to be directed by John Francis Dillon.

The first of the Barthelmess-Dillon productions was "The Noose," which still stands as one of the outstanding roles achieved by Barthelmess. The second was "Out of the Ruins" and the third, "Scarlet Seas." All three of these were before the talkie era. "The Finger Points" is the first talking picture in which Barthelmess and Dillon have been associated.

"The Finger Points" is a sensational story based on a notorious underworld-despot of our most exciting Big Town. Barthelmess enacts the role of reporter who gets involved in gang wars. It offers the star the most forceful part of his career.

AT THE DELFT

"Young Sinners," heralded in previews as one of the most entertaining Fox dramas yet to reach the talking screen, will open an engagement at the Delft Theatre today.

The ever-popular Thomas Meighan returns to the screen in this picture portrays the important role of the robust trainer, who, at his camp in the Adirondack mountains, essays the moral and physical reformation of the wilful son of a multi-millionaire. How he accomplishes his object and how he is unwittingly aided by the girl who loves his charge, forms the basis of the intriguing story.

The romantic roles are enacted by Hardie Albright, brilliant young stage actor who makes his screen bow in this production, and Dorothy Jordan, popular as well as beautiful film actress. These personalities are reinforced by Cecelia Loftus, James Kirkwood and Edmund Breese.

John Blystone, dean of Fox directors, directed the picture which was adapted from Elmer Harris' sensational New York stage play.

Monday's Program

Following her sensational success in "Body And Soul," the Fox picture in which she made her American screen debut, Elissa Landi is now starred in the feminite lead in "Always Goodbye," Fox romantic drama, co-directed by William Cameron Menzies and Kenneth MacKenna. Lewis Stone, Paul Cavanagh and John Garrick are the three men who contest for Miss Landi's affections in the picture which opens Monday at the Delft Theatre.

The junior training course is open to boys and girls from 12 to 17, and the senior course to persons over 17 years of age. Those wishing to take the course are advised to sign up with Mr. Olson at the municipal bathhouse.

Forestry Workers to Tour Peninsula

Milwaukee, Wis., (AP)—Interest shown by women's clubs in forest conservation has influenced to a large degree the progress made during the last decade in national forest development in the Lake States region, G. A. Duthie, chief of the information division, United States forest service, Washington, said here following an inspection tour.

"Women's interest in conservation began largely with their study programs in club work, and their deliberations have not been mere pastime," said Duthie. "They are interested in the conservation of all our natural resources—not only the forests, but the maintenance of streams, protection of farm lands from erosion and preservation of wild life, all of which go hand in hand.

"Now that women have seen the needs, their studies are being translated into appropriate action. Once a woman is convinced of the need of any economic or political reform, she is sure to demand action."

Duthie commended the Federated Women's Clubs of Wisconsin on projected plans to take a trip into the north woods next month.

The forestry official said his tour has revealed the interest shown by women in the work is indicative of a marked change in the public attitude toward forest conservation.

Duthie will tour northern Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota where the federal government spends $250,000 annually for fire prevention. Three old established forests in the Michigan peninsula, and six national forest purchase areas in northern Wisconsin are on his itinerary.

"HUNK" ILL

JUST OBLIGING

Cornwall, Ont.—Joseph Larose isn't going to take any more firemen seriously. He dropped in at the station here and one of them told him: "Go out and turn in an alarm. Things are a bit quiet around here today." He did; but, because it was false, he was arrested and fined $50. He won't be so obliging any more, he vows.

Munising Boy Makes Coach to Enter In Fisher Competition

Elmer Johnson, high school boy of this city, has completed and yesterday shipped away to the Fisher Body Craftsmen's Guild, the model of a Neapolinic coach, in competition for a scholarship in either one of four state universities.

Elmer is eighteen years of age, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson and one of the bright boys who has been attending the Munising high school, displaying ability in mechanism.

The top of the coach is surmounted by the four eagles emblematic of the monarchy, beautifully carved out of wood and gilded. The vehicle rests on four wheels and is an exact reproduction of the coach in which Louis XVI and his consort, Marie Antionette and the members of the royal family made their flight from Versailles to Varannes. The colors are black, blue and gray. Elmer started work on his model last January and has just finished it. All who have seen this beautiful model believe that he will win a scholarship.

AN OLD TIMER

The "Orient" two-passenger runabout, built in 1894, and which has been peacefully reposing in Ed Montcalm's garage basement, is once again in running order. It was operated on the streets of Munising last Thursday evening for the first time in many years and attracted as much attention as it no doubt did when it was first run. The top consists of a large umbrella like the ones used by delivery wagons years ago. The motor is four horse power and air-cooled. The car is constructed after the fashion of an old time buckboard and is steered with a lever, with controls on the side seat next to the driver. It will do fifteen or twenty miles per hour, which was considered an alarming rate of speed when it was constructed and was sufficient to frighten a team of horses and cause the farmers to cuss the man who invented such a contraption. The name of the manufacturer and the place of manufacture have been forgotten. The name "Orient" is all the clue that remains that would lead to the discovery of its parentage. Mr. Montcalm intends to have the car in the Fourth of July parade.

Paris—A new world's speed record for ships has been set by the new French destroyer Gerfaut, the keel of which was laid in 1929 and which was recently completed. In a test off Lorient the speedy craft hit a clip of 42.7 miles an hour.

U. P. Briefs

Water Carnival.

Wakefield—The Geroux Post No. 11, American Legion is again offering some wonderful trophies for the outboard motor boat races to be held on Sunday Lake July 4 as a part of its fourth annual water carnival and celebration.

The water carnival committee this week received eight trophies—four for first place winners and four for second place winners in the races. Two of these trophies are being awarded for the Gogebic county free-for-all race, which is a new event on the program and it is expected that there will be a large number of entries from range cities.

Assessment Approved.

Menominee—The Board of Review met in adjourned session today and by a vote of 7 to 5 confirmed the informal action taken yesterday to reduce the personal property assessment of the J. W. Wells company from $688,000 to $95,000 and by a vote of six to one to reduce the real estate assessment from $27,500 to $15,000.

Supervisors A. E. Schmidt and Wolfgang Reindl dissented on the personal property reduction and Schmidt cast the only negative vote on reducing the real estate assessment.

Fair Passes Reduced.

Norway—Less than 50 passes will be issued for the 1931 Dickinson county fair to be held September, 4, 5, 6 and 7 at the Norway fair grounds, according to a decision made at the meeting of superintendents of the various departments, calf club leaders, Holstein and Guernsey breeders, directors and officers of the Dickinson County Menominee Range Agricultural association last night at the Norway city auditorium. Approximately 35 fair workers attended.

During the last few years an average of 700 passes have been issued each year. Their abuse and the financial failure of the fair resulted in the elimination of free tickets with the exception of those to be given the superintendents and calf club leaders.

DELTA COUNTY LIKES ALFALFA

Demonstration of Curing Methods to Be Given at Flat Rock

The hay-curing demonstration for Delta county will be held Wednesday, July 1, at 1 p. m. on the farm of Frank Barron, Flat Rock, near Carroll's corners, according to J. E. Turner, county agricultural agent, who is making the local arrangements for the Farm Crops Extension Service of Michigan State College.

Some alfalfa will be cut Monday before the meeting and raked immediately, while some will be left to dry several hours in the swath and then raked. There will be some cut and raked the day before while on the day of the meeting mowing and raking will be done. An opportunity will therefore be given to judge the quality of hay raked at different times.

The Farm Crops Department at Michigan State College will be represented by D. L. Clanahan. He will lead the discussion on the curing methods and the grading of alfalfa hay. There will be a short talk on the cultural methods of growing alfalfa which influence quality. Samples of the U. S. grades to illustrate the qualities of good alfalfa hay will be exhibited by Mr. Clanahan.

"Alfalfa is one of the best crops for Delta county farms," says the county farm agent. "It will be well worth the time to take a couple hours next Wednesday afternoon to attend the hay day and exchange ideas with other farmers regarding the improvement of the crop."

Gessner to Spend 2 Months Among Indians In West

ROBERT GESSNER

Robert Gessner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gessner, will leave by motor this morning for the Bad Lands of South Dakota, where he will spend about two months among the Sioux Indians to obtain more information concerning their traits of character and their living conditions on the government reservations.

He will go directly to Kyle, South Dakota, which will be the scene of a large pow-wow of red men from the Pine Ridge, Rosebud and Standing Rock reservations for one week, starting on Monday and terminating on Sunday. About twelve thousand Sioux Indians will come from miles around in their wagons and on horseback to take part in the ceremonials and meet their friends and relatives.

From Kyle, Mr. Gessner will travel along with the Indians as they make their journey in wagons to the homes of other relatives, whom they did not meet at the reunion. Famous battlegrounds of the Sioux tribe will also be visited. After a month of roaming about the states of South Dakota, Wyoming and Montana, the Indians will return to Pine Ridge, South Dakota, government agency headquarters, for another reunion on August 3 to 4.

Although a few of the Indians put on ancient ceremonials for the tourists, the pow-wow is a thing of the past, Mr. Gessner said. The main object of the gatherings are to meet old friends and relatives. When the Pine Ridge celebration breaks up, they again hit the road for the rest of the summer, satisfying that feeling of the wanderlust which has been pent-up following several months' hibernation in their cabins in the Bad Lands.

Mr. Gessner is the author of "Massacre" a book dealing with the social conditions on Indian reservations. He will return in late August to resume his duties as a member of the English department faculty at New York university.

Noted Orchestra Will Appear At Terrace Gardens

Under the terms and special arrangements between the Amusement Service Sorporation of New York and Chicago and the Terrace Gardens the dancing public of Escanaba and surrounding territory have up to this date danced to the music of Bill Dallavo and his orchestra and Bill Carlsen and his WTMJ Milwaukee Journal broadcasting station orchestra and have not only been well pleased with the music furnished, but have acclaimed both of these orchestras as the very best that have appeared in the territory. Under the arrangement, it is planned to have a feature well-known recording or broadcasting orchestra appear at Terrace Gardens every two weeks through the entire season on Tuesday's.

On next Tuesday, June 30, the third attraction is Victoria Spivey and her Victor and Brunswick recording orchestra from Hollywood. This orchestra is perhaps better known as the orchestra that was featured in the motion picture "Hallelluja." The following press story will further familiarize the dancing public as to what they expect in this orchestra.

Victoria Spivey, young blues singer, the bright ingenue of the motion picture "Hallelluja" and her recording orchestra, was a find of King Vidor, famous movie producer, and credit should be given him for this lucky discovery. Mr. Vidor chose the little lady from thousands for her marvelous crooning voice and since then, the people the world over have been entertained by the bluest of all blues singers. Besides reaching success in the motion picture field, Miss Spivey has been a decided hit on the legitimate stage. Miss Spivey and her orchestra have also recorded for Victor, Okay records and with her combination of twelve men and herself featured in singing the blues numbers as well as numbers you like so well to hear, the dancing public of Escanaba will have the opportunity of dancing and listening to an orchestra that is perhaps something somewhat different than has appeared to date. Miss Spivey and her orchestra have proven such a big hit through the western territory and eastern territory that there are only five dates available for the northern Michigan territory.

Recent Russian Books Received At the Library

Of the many recent books about Russia, the political and social conditions existing there, the following are to be found at the Carnegie Public Library:

Hoover, Calvin B. "The Economic Life of Soviet Russia"

Based upon observations which Professor Hoover made in Russia in 1929-30. Samuel N. Harper of the University of Chicago in reviewing it for The Publishers' Weekly writes as follows: "Professor Hoover analyses in detail the administrative apparatus, particularly of the nationalized economic enterprises. One has here one of the best expositions in English of the organization of industry, the policy with respect to agriculture, the soviet systems of banking, wages, social insurance, and so forth. 'Planned economy', the big feature of the revolution on the economic side, is interestingly depicted; this is the much discussed Five-Year Plan. The last chapter on 'Communism and Human Welfare', summarizes the achievements to date."

White, William C. "These Russians"

Attempts to show the effect of the revolution and soviet regime upon the citizens of Russia by sketching the lives and problems of seventeen individuals with whom he became acquainted. These people represent varied walks in life. He tells of life in the provinces as well as in the cities, and the picture which he presents is not a bright one. The seventeen sketches have much of the interest of short stories. Most of which do not have very satisfactory endings because the future holds the destiny of their living characters.

Knickerbocker, H. R. "The Red Trade Menace"

The author is foreign correspondent of the New York Evening Post. He surveys the great industrial undertakings now in progress in Russia, the Five-Year Plan in operation.

Eddy, Sherwood. "The Challenge of Russia"

Written by a man who has been prominent in Y. M. C. A. work and based upon six visits to Russia, two during the Czarist regime and four during the soviet government. The two parts of the book express contrasting views. While enthusiasm is displayed in the first half of the book in telling of social reforms, in the second part the author shows where he feels that the present government is falling short in its work for humanity.

Hindus, Maurice. "Red Bread"

A native Russian who has lived in America for years and succeeded as an author and lectured here writes again of the effect of the Revolution upon the peasantry. Written in a lively, interesting style.

Ilin, M. pseud. "New Russia's Primer

Translated from the Russian. The original was written for Russian children of twelve or fourteen. The translation, however, interests older people as an explanation of the Five-Year Plan.

Strong, Anna Louise. "The Road to the Grey Pamir

Pamir, one of the highest plateaus in the world, is in central Asia. A newspaper correspondent here tells of her trip on horseback through Asiatic Russia. Gives pictures of soviet life in Asia.

Two tomatoes.
Three stalks celery.
One bunch leaf lettuce or several leaves of head lettuce.

Peel cucumbers, cut in two, lengthwise, and scoop out seeds. Peel and chop the two tomatoes and dice celery. Mix celery and tomatoes together with a few drops of onion juice. Fill the cucumbers with this mixture and serve on lettuce leaf. Then add a few thin slices of radishes, leaving the red skins to make a pretty garnish.

For dressing, use the following: Two tablespoons French mustard, two tablespoons sugar. Mix with enough canned cream until it is creamy, then pour dressing over the salad.

Nelsen-Ingebrigtsen

At an evening church ceremony, beautiful in its charm of detail, Miss Signe Marie Nelsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Nelson, 610 South Sixteenth street, Saturday evening, became the bride of Alfred R. Ingebrigtsen, of Ypsilanti, Mich., son of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Ingebrigtsen, of this city, 819 Washington Avenue.

The ceremony was performed at 7 o'clock at the Norwegian-Danish Lutheran church, Rev. Knute Knutsen, pastor of the church reading the impressive marriage service, in the presence of a large number of guests, members of the immediate families and friends of the young people. The church was decorated in ferns and roses, which were arranged about the altar, forming a lovely background for the ceremony.

The Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin was played as members of the bridel party entered the church and proceeded to their places. Entering first were the bridesmaids, followed by the maid of honor, the little flower girl directly preceding the bride. The bridegroom and his attendant entered from the side and awaited her, the ushers then coming from the rear of the church, to take their places. "I Love You Truly," Carrie Jacobs-Bond, was sung as a bridal solo, by Trygve Olsen, and Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played as the recessional, following the ceremony.

The bride was attended by Miss Ruth Hogan, as maid of honor, and Misses Doris Lane of Chicago, Ruth Olsen and Rena Johnsen, were bridesmaids. Little Miss Ruby Arnsen was flower girl. Ingwald Ingebrigtsen was the bridegroom's attendant and ushers were Arthur Carlsen, Alvin Johnsen and Edward Arnsen.

The bride was a lovely picture in her gown of eggshell satin, form fitting with floor length skirt. Her veil of eggshell tulle was fashioned to her head in cap shape and held with orange blossoms, and her slippers were of eggshell satin. She carried a bride's bouquet of beautiful calla lilies.

Her maid of honor was attired in a gown of white lace over pink and she wore moire slippers of the same shade. She carried a bouquet of sweet peas of pastel shades. The bridesmaid's gowns were fashioned alike, Miss Lane wearing yellow lace, floor length, with matching slippers; Miss Johnsen, a lovely shade of blue lace, and Miss Olsen, a gown of green lace. The little flower girl's frock was of pale pink organdy and she carried a bouquet of roses.

The bride's mother wore a gown of green flowered crepe and the bridegroom's mother was attired in green crepe.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served at 8 o'clock in the church parlors to one hundred guests. A color scheme of pale green and yellow was carried out in the decorative note and roses and peonies were attractively arranged.

At Home in Ypsilanti

Mr. and Mrs. Ingebrigtsen left on a motor trip around the Straits of Mackinac to Ypsilanti, where they will make their home. The bride's going-away costume was a modish yellow mesh sport suit with a matching hat.

Mrs. Ingebrigtsen is a graduate of Escanaba high school and she has been engaged in stenographic work in Chicago. Mr. Ingebrigtsen, who attended school here is employed at the Ypsilanti Airport.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Miss Doris Lane, Chicago; Mrs. Arthur Jacobsen, Marysville, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Magnus, Loretto, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Trekas of Gladstone, Mrs. A. Bendrickson of Shawano, Wis., and Miss Julia Bendrickson of Appleton.

Today Visitors' Day at Girl Scouts Camp

Today is Visitor's Day at Camp Menomee, the Escanaba Girl Scout camp at Cedar River, and the camp site will be a busy place throughout the afternoon and early evening, with families and friends of the forty or more Girl Scouts, calling during the day to visit or to spend a part of the day at camp.

A cordial invitation is extended to all those interested to visit the camp.

The principal event of Visitor's Day will be a large camp fire which will be held in the evening at which visitors will be welcome, and a court of awards. Those remaining over from the afternoon, may take along their own lunch baskets and are welcome to have their evening meal on the camp grounds. The Scouts in camp, however, will be required to eat in the camp dining room as usual.

Today is also the last day of the 1931 summer camp. Camp will break Monday morning, although through special permission of the Local Director, Mary Cobb Farrell, girls wishing to leave in time to be ready to start summer school, Monday morning, may be granted that privilege.

He is planning a trip to his native land sometime during the summer but will return to Escanaba in the fall.

RAILWAY WILL COLONIZE U. P.

Milwaukee Road to Send Settlers to Farm Lands Near Here

J. G. Wegner, Sioux City, Iowa, colonization agent of the Milwaukee road, has completed a survey of the territory served by the Milwaukee road and the Escanaba & Lake Superior railway to determine how much tillable land is available for colonization purposes.

He stated that the back-to-the-farm movement appears to be well under way, judging from the inquiries that are being received with regard to available farm lands. Noting this trend, the Milwaukee road has decided upon conducting a colonization program, in which the upper peninsula of Michigan is included. As a part of this program, the railway has engaged the services of Leon H. Robbins, member of the agricultural extension department of Michigan State College, to be the farm agent in this territory.

A considerable amount of cut-over land is being purchased for farm purposes. The Stack Lumber company and the I. Stephenson company report they have been disposing of more acreage during the past year than in any other period. Farms which were abandoned in the days of high industrial wages are now being reclaimed in all counties of the upper peninsula.

Ever find yourself wishing for a pillow along about four in the afternoon? That groggy feeling is usually the result of too much food. Your mind can't keep keenly alert on an overloaded stomach.

Leave spiced meats and fried potatoes to holidays. For efficiency's sake try a light lunch favored by business leaders. A big glass of Lied's milk crammed with proteins and vitamins, a small salad for a "touch of green freshness" and a dish of cottage cheese to counteract stomach acidity.

Such a meal is not only less expensive . . . it is also instantly assimilated to give you additional brain-power when you need it most. Try it today and every business day.

NEW BUILDING AT FOX RANCH

Hiawatha Company Rebuilding Its Plant at Hermansville

Hermansville, June 27 (Special)—The Hiawatha Fur Farms Company is rebuilding its slaughhouse, cold storage and feed preparing plant on its 1560 acre silver fox ranch located 2½ miles southwest of Hermansville. This building is to take the place of the one that was destroyed by fire on the night of February 19, at a considerable loss.

The new building, 84 feet by 145 feet, is being built largely of non-combustible materials—concrete, brick and cinder blocks. It will be much larger than the former building. This has become necessary due to the very large increase in the number of foxes to be taken care of on the ranch. The company will this fall be ranching over 10,000 fur foxes besides it own 300 pairs of breeding foxes and 1400 pups. These 10,000 fur foxes will be brought from Thiensville, Wis., near Milwaukee, from a number of large fox farms controlled by some of the principal stockholders of the local company.

The purpose of bringing these foxes to the Upper Peninsula is to improve the quality of their fur in this northern climate, which has been found by experience to be ideally adapted for the production of high grade furs.

These so-called fur foxes are brought up from the Wisconsin farms during the first half of September in each year in large trucks carrying as many as 600 to a single load; and upon arrival here are turned loose in the woods which has been fenced in with high guard fences to prevent their escape. These enclosures are usually in units of 20 acres to a range and in each of which about 400 foxes can be accommodated. They are here fed one meal a day prepared in the large feed house with its modern labor-saving machinery and equipment. Their feed consists of a mixture of horse meat, fish meal, dried ground bread, vegetables and other foods and is hauled out to them in the woods in specially constructed feed wagons with rubber tires.

These foxes are guarded day and night by well-armed guards to prevent their escape or theft, and are left in these so-called fur ranges until the end of November when pelting time commences. They are then rounded up in the wods and killed by chloroforming them. Then they are hauled in trucks to the company's large fur-house located in the village of Hermansville where they are skinned by men expert in this work and their skins dried and prepared for market. The skins or pelts are then immediately shipped to New York City by Express and sold at pulic auction through the New York Auction Company as raw furs to the so-called fur trade, which includes dealers, manufacturers and retailers and who manufacture them into useful articles of feminine wearing apparel such as scarfs and fur trimmed coats, etc., and sell them to the consuming public.

This year Hermansville will have the distinction of sending to market the largest single collection of silver fox pelts in the world, and the total value of this collection will exceed three-quarters of a million dollars even at the present very much reduced values of these pelts as compared with prices realized a few years ago.

The principal stockholders of the Hiawatha Fur Farms Co., are John F. Nieman and Herbert A. Nieman of Thiensville, Wis., and August Wendt, Otto Bartl, I. L. Sutherland, George L. Bartl and Martin R. Bradley of Hermansville.

A. M. Arntzen of Escanaba, has the general building contract.

Preparing for Fair.

Iron River—A committee of the Iron County Holstein Breeders' association visited most of the outstanding herds in the county yesterday afternoon to select cattle which will be exhibited at the upper peninsula state fair to be held in Escanaba next August.

The committee included Victor Soderman and Walter Fisher, of Crystal Falls, Gust Casagranda, of Iron River, and A. W. Otterbein, county agent.

The show herd for the county will include three bulls of different ages, three cows of four years or over, two cows under four, a senior yearling heifer, a junior yearling heifer and a heifer calf. In addition seconds will be shown to make up a herd of 26 head.

The county herd will compete in the group and individual classes, and the calf clubs will also participate.

Within a few days the Guernsey breeders will select their cattle to be displayed at the fair. Otterbein also expects to have several cattle of the Jersey breed at the fair.

"THE BIG LOG" TELLS ITS TALE

Memorial to Old Days Is Attracting Considerable Attention

Newberry, June 27 (Special)—"The Big Log" one of the last of the stand of white pine cut in this county and presented to the village by W. H. Matthews of Memphis, Tenn., as a memorial of the old days of real lumbering, is attracting a lot of attention. It has been placed on a concrete foundation and over it has been constructed an ornamental shelter making a sightly appearance on the grass plot near the Newberry State Bank. Every effort has been made to preserve the log. The ends have been sandpapered, the cracks filled and then varnished, and copper wire binds the bark tightly.

On Friday morning A. H. Eylis, Jr., of Philadelphia, in town on a survey for an eastern magazine spent some time with a reading glass counting the growth rings of the log. He makes out 405 for the wood and about fifty for the bark. He says the log told him its life history as he examined it.

"I remember well the first year I started to grow. It was about 1490. The fall of 1493 two purple finches were swinging in my branches and I overheard them say: 'Did you see those funny ships that touched at St. Augustine last winter. They said they were trying to get to India but we know how wrong they were."

"Then when I was 200 years old I saw a lot of Indians. Then the French came through. Within the last hundred years I am sorry to say that practically all my family and all my relatives and friends have been ruthlessly destroyed."

"It would not have been so bad if the men who cut us down had planted some of my descendents in our place but they did not do this. Nor did they use us as well as they might."

"One day a young man and girl paused under my spreading arms and I heard him read to her a poem by a man named Joyce Kilmer, who I understand lost his life in your last war, 'Any fool like me can write a poem but it takes God to make a tree.' Isn't that true."

"Did you notice those marks, they are scars of some angry forest fires that have swept through my home, but I understand that there is much more danger today because of the careless smokers throwing lighted matches and half-smoked cigarettes and cigars into the dry grass and leaves."

"Here on this side you can see where the north winds buffeted me that I could not grow as rapidly as I did on the south side. Then there were many times when the west winds held me back from growing on that side. Do you notice that some of my rings are wider than others, well that was because some years there wasn't much rain and I had a hard time pumping the sap up into my limbs. But it is wonderful how God made it possible for me to deliver this lifeblood into my limbs by just swaying in the wind."

"Then if you come around to the other side I will show you some more interesting things. Here was a year when the time from April until about the first of September it was pretty dry, but from then on it was fairly wet. See how I grew then."

"Do you know that about 999 out of every 1,000 who pass me merely see me as a big log and I am always happy to have some one stop who has become acquainted with my language so that we can have a pleasant chat together. It seems odd that the people of this town should take so much care of me by putting this shelter over me to protect me when you consider that for over 450 years I have had to fight wind and rain and by so doing was able to grow to this size."

"Well goodbye and if you are ever this way again stop to say 'hello' to me."

And that is what this patriarch said to me.

Stolen Goods Worth $3,000 Uncovered in Shoplifters' Home

Houghton—That Joseph and Allie Golden and Myrtle Cleary, who were released here Monday after they pleaded guilty to charges of simple larceny and paid nominal fines, are members of an organized gang of professional shoplifters was almost definitely established Wednesday when merchandise valued at more than $3,000 was found by Detroit police in Mrs. Golden's apartment in Detroit. The apartment was searched at the request of the state police who have taken an active interest in bringing the trio to justice since their release from Houghton county.

The state police also reported yesterday that other crews of shoplifters, all members of the same gang, were operating in the upper peninsula when the Goldens and the Cleary woman were picked up in Houghton.

After the trio was released in Houghton county, state police followed and detained them immediately after they crossed the Houghton county line into Ontonagon county. With the co-operation of Prosecuting Attorney Joseph Donnelly of Ontonagon county, the state police were able to hold the trio until some of the merchandise found in their car when arrested in Houghton was identified by merchants in Sault Ste. Marie. A warrant for their arrest was issued at the Soo, and the trio has been taken there for trial.

In the meantime, the state police will continue their investigations which, it is hoped, will disclose the operations of the entire gang.

The trio was picked up in Houghton a week ago Wednesday after being wanted in Petoskey on a charge of shoplifting. When they were picked up, merchandise valued at several hundred dollars was found in their car but only one suit of clothes was identified as coming from a local store. Petoskey authorities came to Houghton and while they were able to identify the Goldens and the Cleary woman as having been in Petoskey at the time several stores were robbed, they were unable to identify any of the merchandise. It was believed that Houghton county had the best case against them so it was agreed to let them stand trial here.

A complaint was sworn out against them under a statute which makes it a felony to enter a store and steal merchandise, but a plea of guilty to simple larceny was accepted. Each was sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and costs, the three fines and costs aggregating $90.80 which they paid.

Important Notice!

A City Ordinance prohibits the use of bank run gravel in sidewalk construction by specifically providing that material for this purpose be washed and screened. Why?

Because bank gravel contain clay, silt, and vegetable matter, which if left in the mix are bound to cause flaws. No concrete job can possibly hold up and give satisfaction unless they are eliminated. This can only be done by thorough and scientific washing. The Ordinance safeguards your interests as to outside walks because they are of a quasi-public nature. However, it is up to you to protect yourself on concrete construction of a private nature. Do your home improvements include the building of a private walk, wall, foundation, or floor? Then insist that you contractor uses washed sand and gravel. Most contractors do. Some don't.

The fact that the City and State will not permit the use of bank gravel in concrete construction of any nature should convince you that you don't want it.

Bichler Brothers have the only gravel screening and washing plant in Delta County. If your material comes from there it will pass both City and State inspection, otherwise not. Ask any engineer.

RACE TIGHTENS IN BALL LOOP

Nortons' Lead Cut Down to One Game; Fords, Markets Tied

LEAGUE STANDINGS

	W.	L.	Pct.
Norton Specials	7	1	.875
Creighton Fords	6	2	.750
Central Markets	6	2	.750
Putnam Rexalls	2	6	.250
Independents	2	6	.250
Coffey Coals	1	7	.125

Although the first four places remained unchanged in the Manistique diamond ball association race this week, the pace setting Norton Specials were cut down to a one game lead by virtue of their defeat at the hands of the Fords Tuesday evening. By winning all of their games, the Creighton Fords and Central Markets are still tied for second position, while the Independents climbed out of a tie for the cellar to jump into a third place tie with the Rexalls who lost both of their contests last week.

The Central Markets played the best ball during the week according to statistics. They showed the way to the other teams both on offense and defense, walloping opposing pitchers for a total of 51 runs and having but seven counters chalked up against them. The Creighton Fords rank second in this respect by scoring 20 runs to 11 for their opponents. The Independents were low offensively with only six runs, while the Rexalls showed the weakest defense by allowing the opposition 45 tallies.

Unless some severe upsets take place, the Norton Specials should maintain their position at the top of the pack as they are billed to meet two of the weakest teams in the league, the Coffey Coals and Independents. While the Nortons are enjoying a comparative vacation, the Fords and Central Markets will be cutting each other's throats when they hook up in a battle for second place Tuesday evening on the eastside in what should be a contest well worth seeing. In the last meeting between the two, the Centrals took the measure of the Fords by a 5-2 count.

This weeks games are as follows:

Monday, Coffey Coals vs. Central Market, (westside); Putnam Rexalls vs. Creighton Fords, (eastside).

Tuesday, Norton Specials vs. Independents, (westside); Central Markets vs. Creighton Fords, (eastside).

Thursday, Coffey Coals vs. Nortons, (westside); Putnam Rexalls vs. Independents, (eastside).

Seney Bear Returns to Village For Daily Eats

A real "bear" story emanates from the village of Seney dealing with "Ted," the half-wild or half-civilized bear owned by Bob Hudson until he recently slipped his leash to return to his former haunts. Hudson is the proprietor of the Seney hotel. The following story relating the escapades of Ted was published recently in the Kalamazoo Gazette:

"This village has had a nightly visitor the past few weeks in the person of a big black bear that wanders in from the nearby woods, visits local back doors for scraps of food, begs regularly at their Seney hotel for doughnuts, candy bars and other tidbits, tolerates no nonsense from village dogs, and gives local residents a surprise every once in a while by walking boldly up to a front window and peering in.

"The bear's name is Ted and he isn't wild. Or at least he wasn't until he slipped his leash in the back yard of the local hotel a few weeks ago and wandered off to the woods. But Seney folks are not sure just how long it takes a bear to go wild under those circumstances.

"Ted is one of a pair of black bears kept last summer as a tourist attraction by Bob Hudson who operates the hotel. With his companion and playmate, Nellie, a year his senior—Ted is a two-year-old this spring—he was kept chained in the yard, where their antics afforded an endless source of amusement for visitors and guests.

"As is usual with bears, they displayed an enormous fondness for sweets, and an offering of a candy bar or a bottle of pop, was sure to call forth some droll stunts. Given a bottle of pop with a small hole punched in the cap, either bear would roll over on his or her back and painstakingly suck the last drop out of the bottle.

"Last fall Nellie grew tired of captivity and struck off her bonds. She took to the woods, leaving Ted to worry along through the winter as best he could without companionship or admiring tourists.

"As has proven the case with him this spring, however, Nellie's associations with humans were not so lightly broken and for weeks she returned to the village at irregular intervals, often coming boldly in full daylight, walking up to Hudson's door and seeking admittance.

"On one occasion when Hudson went down to open the hotel in the morning he saw a shabbily dressed man walking up and down in front of the place. The man accepted an invitation to come in and get warm, and shortly after he entered the hotel, Nellie walked up to the door and scratched to be let in.

"Hudson admitted her and fed her a candy bar. The stranger watched silently from a corner. Finally he nooded and spoke as if to himself, 'So that's the bear.'

"After a minute he went on: 'I was sleeping in a shed across the tracks last night. About three o'clock this morning I heard a noise. Raised up and scratched a match and there was a big bear standin' right over me. The bear snorted and jumped out right behind him. I've been walking up and down in front of this place ever since.'

"Ted has proven somewhat more cautious than Nellie, following his escape this spring, however, and does not venture back into the village until after dark. He appears regularly each evening and is as tame and friendly, Hudson reports, as when he traveled many circular miles each day on the end of his chain. He still accepts offerings of food from the hotel man's hand.

"Other Seney folks are inclined to look on Ted with open suspicion, however, and recently he 'put the run on' a group of boys who were fishing near the village, by appearing suddenly on the bank of the stream."

Expect Many Gladstone Fans to Compete in Press Tourney

Local fans of that ancient and simple sport of horse shoe pitching will be given the opportunity of displaying their wares in the Daily Press tournament, which will begin in this city on July 13. The game has gained great popularity in the upper peninsula of late, especially in this section, as witnessed by the fact that almost 100 entries have been received in Escanaba. Manistique will also conduct a tourney, and individual meets will be held in the various towns and villages of the surrounding territory in order to determine the champion tosser of each.

Gladstone boasts a number of first class exponents of barnyard golf, as the game is commonly called, and it is expected that these men, as well as many unskilled tossers will compete in the local meet.

As in the other tourneys, the local meet will be open to every male person 15 years of age or over. All that is necessary to qualify for competition is to fill out the entry blank appearing on this page and mail it to the Gladstone office of the Daily Press. A card certifying membership in the American Horse Shoe Pitchers' association will be mailed to each entrant.

If the number of entries are sufficient it is planned to divide the various entrants in separate divisions, the winners of the various divisions meeting for the city title. The city champion, like the winners of tourneys conducted in each city, town, and village, will be eligible to compete in the finals which will be held in Escanaba the latter part of August. The winner of the tournament finals will be eligible to compete in the national contest which will be held at a later date in Chicago.

Official horse shoe pitching rules as were published in a recent series of articles in the sports section of the Press will govern all matches and tourneys.

THEATRES

RIALTO

Romance, as it lives and flourishes in the grimy sawdust of side shows—in the patched, poverty ridden interior of a medicine man's home on wheels!—

And laughs as they come in the supreme essence of humor—sublime laughs from pathos' depths—giddy laughs from sheer ridiculousness — booming laughs from hilarious situations!

That, in spirit, is Radio Pictures' "Everything's Rosie," at the Rialto theatre today and Monday starring Robert Woolsey.

Woolsey soars to far higher comedy in this production even than he did with Bert Wheeler in their string of successes.

TOES PEEP THIS YEAR

Paris—Summer sandals, decrees Dame Fashion, will have open toes out of which the pink digits of my fair lady can peep at the sunny world. With the fashion of bare legs predominating with the coming of warm weather, the toes now make their unclad appearance without as much as a trace of a blush.

Dogs Ruin Gardens; Warning Is Renewed

Numerous complaints within the last few days that dogs running about loose have damaged gardens in various sections of the city, caused local police authorities yesterday to renew their warning that all dogs must be kept confined, tied up, or if on the street on leash.

It was stated yesterday that if this warning is not heeded, all dogs found running loose will be picked up and destroyed.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
(Associated Press Finanical Writer)

New York, June 27. (AP)—Fresh buying orders more than offset week-end profit-taking in today's stock market.

JOHN L. COOLEY

Led by U. S. Steel, the list closed with gains of 1 to 4 points or more, although most of the advances in the more important issues fell in a one to two range. Trading was active, especially in the last half hour. Sales totaled 1,900,000 shares, a large volume for Saturday.

Although overnight Washington advices had stated that the French cabinet's reply on the debt proposal, sustained by the deputies, did not quite fill the bill from the viewpoint of the American administration, financial circles here expressed confidence in the outcome.

Seasonal Sag Ending?

Stocks opened heavy, apparently on realizing, but before the session was thirty minutes old the rally had been revived. Steel Common got to 104¾, a new high for the recovery. It reacted moderately but closed with a gain of 2 3-8. Bethlehem duplicated that advance, and there were roughly similar rises in Westinghouse, Johns-Manville, American Telephone, Du Pont and Allied Chemical. Rails were quiet but higher. Eastman Kodak and Pere Marquette were up 4, Columbian Carbon 8, Ingersoll Rand and Industrial Rayon 3, Underwood Elliott Fisher 4 and Nickel Plate Preferred 5.

Domestic news, overshadowed all this week by events in the international field, offered little light on trade conditions at home. Steel production in the Youngstown district next week will be unchanged at 41 per cent of capacity. Close students of that industry are predicting that the bottom of the seasonal sag will be reached shortly, possibly the middle of July, although not much of a revival is expected until late summer or early fall.

Other markets were mostly better. Copper was unchanged, with a good demand for foreign and domestic consumers.

Cotton fluttered erratically, losing about a dollar a bale before recovering.

Trading in bonds was featured by continued strength of the rails. Foreign issues were rather irregular.

The Canadian dollar improved substantially here, rising nearly a quarter of a cent. Other exchange rates displayed nominal easiness, although both sterling and the mark were steady.

PROFIT-TAKING HOLDS UP CURB

Trend Is Firm; Utility and Oil Groups Advance

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, June 27. (AP)—The curb was little better than firm today. Most of the strength was in specialties or inactive issues, although the utility and oil groups showed an upward trend. Sales totaled 350,000 shares.

CLAUDE A. JAGGER

Profit-taking in the active light and power company issues kept the rally under wraps, although buying orders offset sales to a moderate extent. Net gains in Electric Bond & Share, United Light A, American Superpower and Niagara Hudson averaged less than half a point. Duke Power, however, sprinted 17 3-8 and North American Light jumped 6¼. Brazilian Traction was in demand, up 2 points.

Gains of a point in Vacuum, Gulf and Plymouth measured the extreme net advance of the oils. Cities Service was steady. Mining shares were fairly strong, with gains of a point in Roan Antelope and United Verde. Dow Chemical, Stutz, Pan American Airways, Western Auto A and Technicolor rose one to two, while International Cigar Machinery was up 8. Walgreen was active at rising quotations, scoring a net rise of 4 points. Deere eased a little.

There was little or no activity in the investment trusts. United Founder was heavy but recovered.

BY ALEXANDER HENDERSON
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, June 27. (AP)—The bond market crept ahead narrowly today. Trading was more active than on other recent half sessions and sales totaled $6,200,000.

ALEXANDER HENDERSON

Many of the widest gains appeared among the foreign obligations. Some of the Latin American issues, such as those of Chile and Argentina, which had been buoyant on Friday while reports of plans for the economic relief of the southern republics were current, declined irregularly. German obligations fluctuated uncertainly and such changes as occurred among them were moderate. Higher prices were common among the obligations of Antioquia, Denmark, Poland, Peru, Finland, Norway, Japan, Australia and Hungary.

Rails Lead Advance.

The trend of corporate issues was clearly upward although the net gains usually were fractional. The average closing prices for railroads, public utilities and industrials were all higher.

Railroad issues appreciated most in this upward movement. St. Paul 5s of 1975 and Adjustment 5s of 2000, Chicago & Northwestern series A 4¾, Illinois Central 4¾s of 1966 and Illinois Central and Chicago, St. Louis & New Orleans series A 5s, both issues of Erie Refunding and Improvement 5s, Denver & Rio Grande Western 5s, several Missouri Pacific issues, Nickel Plate series A 5½s, and St. Louis, San Francisco 4½s of 1978 closed higher after an active turnover.

Public utility and industrial bonds were usually firm or slightly higher.

CHICAGO PRICES

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK.

Chicago, June 27.—Cattle 300; compared week ago yearlings and light steers 25 to 75 lower; only specialties escaping with minor declines; matured beeves 50 to 1.00 lower; plain big weights off most; few steers scaling over 1,200 lbs. less than 75 cents lower; yearling heifers 50 and more lower; most fat she stock 50 to 1.00 off; stock and feeder trade practically at standstill.

Sheep 2,500; today's market nominal; for week 40 doubles from feeding stations, 32,300 direct; compared week ago choice lambs and yearlings 10 to 15 lower; other grades and classes steady; feeding lambs nominal; closing bulk good and choice native ewe and wether lambs 7.75 to 8.00; week's top 8.50; range lambs 7.75 to 8.25; native bucks 6.75 to 7.00; throwouts 5.00 to 5.50; range throwouts 6.00 to 6.25; fed yearlings 5.00 to 6.50; fat ewes 1.00 to 1.75.

Hogs 5,000; including 4,000 direct; steady on best light weights; others very slow; most bids and few sales 15 or more lower; smooth light weights scarce; compared week ago butchers steady to 25 lower.

CHICAGO POTATOES.

Chicago, June 27.—Potatoes 128, on track 265; total U. S. shipments 912; weak, prices lower; trading rather slow; sacked per cwt., Bliss Triumphs Oklahoma Arkansas, Texas, 1.20 to 1.30; decayed 75 up; Louisiana, Mississippi 1.25 to 1.35; few Louisiana 1.40; decayed 1.00 up; North Carolina bbl. Cobblers few sales 2.50.

CHICAGO LARD.

Chicago, June 27.—Cash lard 8.20.

CHICAGO BUTTER.

Chicago, June 27.—Butter prices advanced ¼ to ½ cent today because of light offerings and a brisk demand.

Fresh: 93 score 24¼ to 3-4; 92, 23 3-4; 91, 23; 90, 22½; 89, 21½; 88, 20½; 87, 19.

Centralized carlots: 90 score 23 3-4; 89, 22¼; 88, 20½.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, June 27.—Buyers flocked to corn and oats today, and backed away from wheat. Hot dry weather threatening damage to corn and doing actual injury to oats furnished incentive to purchase feed grains. Wheat prices averaged lower, largely owing to federal farm board refusal to change its policy in regard to disposal of government financed old crop holdings aggregating 200,000,000 bushels or more.

Corn closed firm, 5-8 to 1¼ cents higher, wheat 3-8 off to 1¼ up, oats 3-4 to 1 cent advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12 cents.

Highest prices of the day in corn and oats came during the late dealings, and overtopped any level for more than two months. Meanwhile, Illinois advices said oats had been caught in the milk stage, and were suffering material crop losses in consequence.

Wheat prices sagged more than a cent a bushel at times, but later rallied with securities, especially after United States Steel shares had scored sharp gains.

Receipts of new domestic wheat totaled 1,523 cars, showing a decided increase of all markets, including 38 cars at Chicago. Liverpool advices continued to emphasize fear of Russian competition.

Provisions reflected strength of feed grains and of stocks.

Closing indemnities: Wheat July 56¼, 59 1-8 to ¼; Sept. 58 1-8, 60 3-4 to 7-8; Dec. 62 3-8 to ¼, 65½ to 3-8.

Corn July 59¼ to 3-4; 63 1-8; Sept. 57 7-8, 60 7-8 to 61; Dec. 51 5-8 to 3-4, 55¼ to 3-8.

GOVERNMENT BONDS.

New York, June 27.—Closing prices:
Liberty 3½s 102.16.

Minneapolis, June 27.—Wheat No. 1 Northern 70¼ to 72¼; No. 1 Red Durum 56 to 57; June 66 3-4; July 66 3-4; Aug. 66¼; Sept. 61 3-8; Dec. 64 3-8.

The Indian lake twilight golf league will get under way this week. Eight teams have been organized to play twice each week on any afternoon or evening except Saturday and Sunday. Medal scores will be kept by the opposing captains, and on the other foursome by someone appointed by the captain. Cards are to be turned in to the caddie master when the match has been completed.

The opening series for the first half of the week is as follows:

Gustafson Remains Will Arrive Today

The body of Henry J. Gustafson, former manager of the local store of the J. C. Penney Co. who passed away late Tuesday evening at Tucson, Arizona, after a protracted illness, will arrive in this city this morning according to a telegram received here yesterday by Sven Johnson, local mortician. Mrs. Gustafson, wife of the deceased will accompany the remains. The body was shipped Wednesday from Tucson.

Funeral services will take place Monday afternoon with Rev. L. Oien, pastor of the Norwegian Danish Lutheran church, officiating. The body will be brought to either the home of Charles Ekberg, Cedar street, or to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Johnson, 117 Cedar street. Pallbearers have not been named.

Number of Tourists Is Light Thus Far

Exceptionally light tourist traffic is reported through this city by local business men who are in a position to note the situation. Tourists, thus far, are not nearly as much in evidence than at the same time last year.

The facts are also substantiated by reports from the Chamber of Commerce tourist information bureau which opened last Monday under the supervision of Frank Wharfield.

THEATRES

GERO

"Dracula" which is now creating a sensation at the Gero theatre, tells a story of vampires—those strange "undead" creatures with terrible, abnormal appetities who rise from their graves at night and reduce their unsuspecting victims to madness or death.

Five to Apply for Citizenship Tuesday

Five applications for citizenship will be considered here Tuesday, naturalization day, according to G. Leslie Bouschor, county clerk.

SPIRITLESS SPIRITS

Cincinnati—The spirits which guided Mabel Riggle and Mrs. Mamie Schultz, professed clairvoyants, didn't work so well. At least they failed to discover the presence of three detectives and a court stenographer at a seance recently. The officers took the two mediums to jail after the spooks had failed to spot their identity in the crowd.

Horseshoe Pitching Tournament Opens Today

GAMES START AT 2 O'CLOCK

More Than One Hundred Barnyard Golfers Will Compete

One hundred and seven contestants are entered in the Escanaba Daily Press Horseshoe Pitching Tournament, which will get under way at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Gafner Courts, Ludington street, across from the new junior high school building. Originally scheduled for Monday, the opening of the tournament has been advanced one day in order to accomodate a large number of pitchers on the first day.

35-Inning Games

Drawings were made last night to decide what contestants will face each other. Each game will be played for 35 innings, the loser in each tilt to be permanently eliminated. Rival contestants can arrange to play each other at their convenience, but are urged to play only when a scorekeeper is on hand. The results of every game should be reported to the Escanaba Daily Press so that a check can be kept on the progress of the tournament.

Each division champion will be awarded a set of regulation horseshoes, and the grand championship which will be decided on the opening day of the Upper Peninsula State Fair in August, will carry with it a trophy offered by the American Horseshoe Pitchers' Association and the right to compete in the national tournament to be held in Chicago in September.

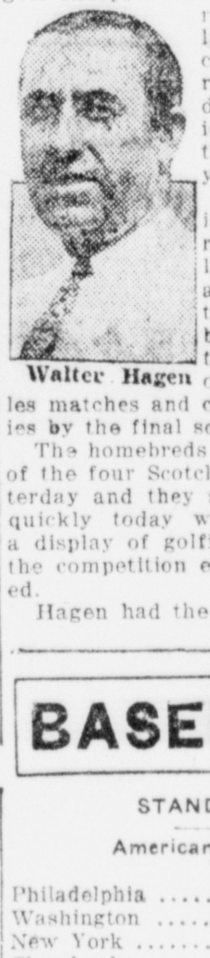
Hagen and His Yankee Ryder Cup Golf Stars Defeat English Squad

BY ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

Scioto Country Club, Columbus, O., June 27. (AP)—Walter Hagen's home-bred squad of professional golf sharpshooters, completed the route of the gallant British forces today and restored the Ryder cup to American custody for the next two years.



Walter Hagen

Under a scorching sun whose rays only partially were offset by a fresh breeze, the Americans blazed their way to victory in six of the eight singles matches and captured the series by the final score of 9 to 3.

The homebreds had taken three of the four Scotch foursomes yesterday and they settled the issue quickly today with as brilliant a display of golfing fireworks as the competition ever has witnessed.

Hagen had the honor of bringing home the seventh and deciding victory when he vanquished the rival British captain, Charles Whitcombe, 4 and 3, in the feature match that attracted the interest of most of the gallery of 12,000, including Bobby Jones.

It was the climax of a series of quick golfing knockouts administered by Billie Burke, Gene Sarazen and Densmore Shute.

Burke set the pace for the Americans by walloping big Archie Compston, one of the prime British favorites, to the lopsided tune of 7 and 6. Sarazen followed this with a similarly overwhelming triumph over Fred Robson, 7 and 6, and Densmore Shute gave his home town gallery plenty to cheer about when he disposed of young Bert Hodson, 8 and 6, for the biggest margin of the day.

Wiffy Cox and Al Espinosa accounted for the remaining American victories. Cox pulled out a ding-dong battle with Abe Mitchell, 3 and 1, by holing a 30 foot putt on the 35th green. Espinosa after his advantage wiped away entirely by Ernest Whitecombe, with three holes to go, rallied to win two in succession and decided the match by 2 and 1.

Craig Wood Loses.

Johnny Farrell's defeat by W. H. (Billy) Davies, the former Hoy Lake caddie, was the biggest upset of the singles from the American viewpoint. The handsome Irishman was way off his game in the afternoon and succombed 4 and 3, as he went ten strokes over par for 15 holes.

The remaining British triumph was registered by Arthur Havers, former British open champion, who took advantage of the erratic work of Craig Wood to post a 4 and 3 victory handily.

The Yankee cleanup gave the United States two out of three in the competition for the Ryder cup, begun in 1927 with an American victory. The British won in 1929. They can claim an even break in the professional team competition, however, since they won the informal series in England in 1926. In each case victory has gone to the home forces.

Grove Wobbly at First But Recovers to Win 14th Victory

Detroit, June 27 (AP)—Robert Moses Grove wobbled in the early innings of the Philadelphia Athletics' game with the Detroit Tigers here today, but tightened after the second and the Athletics won, 9 to 5. It was Grove's 14th victory of the season.

The Tigers touched the Philadelphia ace for eight hits and four runs in the first two innings, but were held to four hits and one run in the remainder of the game, the latter a homer by Marty McManus in the fifth.

Arthur Herring went eight innings for the Tigers, but was taken out for a relief pitcher, and Sullivan and Hoyt, his successors, were touched for four hits and three runs in the ninth.

Gladstone Meets Rock Spartanas In Ball Game Today

Gladstone, June 27 — Gladstone baseball fans will have the opportunity of watching the local nine in action on the home field for the first time this season Sunday when they meet the rugged Spartans of Rock. It will be the first meeting of the two teams this year.

Strengthened by the addition of Al Kircher, Michigan State college star, the local crew are primed and ready and the players feel confident that they will break into the win column in tomorrow's game. They dropped their opener last Sunday to the veteran Wells aggregation, while Rock was defeated in a close battle by Rapid River.

Either Olson or the veteran Van De Weghe will be on the mound for the locals, while Rabideau will probably do the heaving for the Rock nine.

The rest of the Gladstone lineup will be Bovin, c; Barry 1b; M. Kircher, 2b; P. Gregory, ss; Switzer or Stemac, 3b; A. Kircher lf; Switzer or Stemac, cf and Van De Weghe or Olson, rf.

The Wells team will play at Perkins in another league game today.

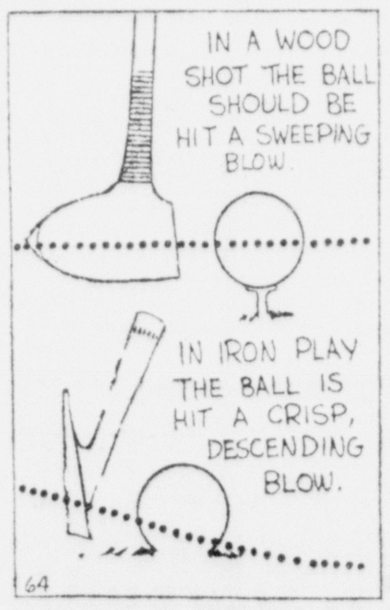
Miss Helen Hicks Wins at Long Beach

Long Beach, N. Y., June 27 (AP)—Miss Helen Hicks today added the New York state women's golf championship to her long list of 1931 titles, defeating Mrs. Leo G. Federman, 4 and 3, in the 36-hole final match over the Lido country club course.

Recent researches in famous ancient Stirling castale in Scotland have revealed the existence of stairways in the tower which flank the old entrance gateway.

Golfing

—BY ART KRENZ—



What is the difference in the swing of the iron and the wood?

• • •

In making a wood shot the club should be at the back of the ball, a sweeping blow as compared to the crisp descending blow of the iron shot. Because the iron clubs have shorter shafts, one must stand closer to the ball and use a more open stance.

The iron swing is more abbreviated and requires less pivot. At the top of the backswing for an iron, the club makes a varying angle with the ground from 10 to 35 degrees, whereas with the wood club in the backswing the club usually is parallel with the ground.

Gladstone Tennis Meet Opens Today; Field of 32 to Play for Title

A field totalling 32 in the singles and 16 teams in the doubles, and in it the pick of the tennis players of Gladstone and Escanaba, will be seen in competition in the First Gladstone Invitational Tennis Tournament which will open in the new Ford city this morning. Entries poured in fast yesterday, nearly half of the entire number enrolling on the final day.

Drawings were made last night with the outstanding singles players and doubles combinations seeded. Play will begin this morning and all first round matches are expected to be played by Monday night. All matches will be played on the Gladstone playground courts, two out of three sets deciding the winners in all rounds except the finals.

Some of the net luminaries who will be seen here are Jim Rouman, Michael Curran, both finalists in the Escanaba city meet, Garry Belanger, Bob Skellenger, Austin Stegath, Frank Bourke, Burleson Fitzharris and Chester Olson. A number of crack doubles teams, including the Rouman-Curran, McEwen-Bourke, and Belanger-Khollman combinations are entered.

Interesting Matches

Because of the seeded draw many of the first round matches will provo one-sided. However, in the singles, the Rouman vs. Farrell match should prove good, with the former having a decided edge; Chester Olson will probably prove plenty hard for Robert McEwen, and in the third match which looks good, the dope favors Micahel Curran to defeat George Bonefeld.

Several of the first round doubles matches should prove interesting. Boddy and Olson are expected to prove troublesome for Belanger and Khollman, though the latter combination is on the heavy side of the dope. Rouman and Curran will play Skellenger and Johnson, while McEwen and Bourke, doubles champs, should have easy pickings on Murray and Olson.

A complete list of the drawings, both singles and doubles, will be found on this page.

A chart showing the draw, which will be kept up-to-date as the matches are completed, will be placed in the window of the office of the Gladstone branch of the Daily Press.

CHICUBS WIN WITHOUT HACK

Wilson Sits on Bench as Chicago Nationals Wallop Braves

Boston, June 27 (AP)—Although Hack Wilson sat on the bench as punishment for breaking training rules, the Chicago Cubs gave the Braves a 12 to 3 drubbing today. Danny Taylor who took Wilson's place in center field for the Chicagoans drove in three runs.

Hornsby's men gathered seven runs in the eighth inning. Woody English started the fun with a double off Cunningham. In his second appearance at the plate in the inning English blasted a single off Haid to score two runs.

Richbourg went in as a pinch hitter for the Braves in the 9th and hit the first ball pitched for a homer.

WAYNE KING
M. C. A. ATTRACTION

Wayne King Brought To Terrace Gardens For Gala Dance

Wayne King and his orchestra, probably the most popular orchestra in the middle west, will be brought to play for dancers at Terrace Gardens, through special arrangement with the Music Corporation of America. The date for the gala event has been set for July 9th.

There are many orchestras who make marvelous stage presentations, yet fail miserably as dance attractions when they make personal dance tours. Similarly there are a great many dance orchestras who are poor showman. Wayne King and his orchestra, through three years of appearing nightly before thousands of dancers who watch as eagerly as they listen and dance, have learned that an orchestra must entertain besides playing well. The consequence is that Wayne King and his orchestra are tremendous favorites wherever they play.—Adv.

BETTY NUTHALL BEATS HARPER

English Tennis Player Again Turns Tables on Yankee Woman

BY FRANK H. KING
(Ass'd Press Staff Writer)

London, June 27 (AP)—Before her king and queen and with 10,000 fellow countrymen applauding, Betty Nuthall, chubby darling of the British courts, today repeated in decisive fashion the victory she scored over Mrs. L. A. Harper in the finals of the American tennis championship last year.

Playing with a fire that was not to be denied Briton's ranking woman player defeated the ranking woman racquet wielder of the United States 6-4, 6-3 and moved into the quarter-finals of singles play.

The Nuthall-Harper match was the feature of the sixth day of Wimbledon play which saw five American victories and two defeats, all in womens or doubles play.

Monday's center court program pits Austin against Shields and Borotra against Satch. Wood will meet Hughes on the number one court and Van Ryn will play Perry to decide the four semi-finalists. The first four are in the lower half of the draw and the last four in the upper.

Detroit Highest In Rifle Championship

Battle Creek, June 27 (AP)—Detroit took the first day's honors in the Michigan state rifle association's rifle and pistol championships under way here today. The matches will continue tomorrow, under the management of Col. Payson D. Foster, of Detroit.

Lieut. R. H. Franklin, of the 182nd field artillery, national guard, Detroit, won the state individual rifle championship with a score of 142 out of a possible 150. Patrolman Alfred Heming, of the Detroit motorcycle division, won the individual pistol championship with a score of 262 out of 300.
